Achieve! Instant Lessons

Quality ready-to-use resources

Each book in the Achieve! series has been designed and written for students who have low-level literacy skills and require modified classroom activities to fully participate in the curriculum. Students will experience success as they work alongside their classmates in the same subjects with material that is tailored for their literacy needs.

Key features

- ✓ Mature-look page layout and illustrations
- ✓ Topics that will interest teenagers
- ✓ An emphasis on literacy skills
- ✓ Clear learning objectives
- ✓ An extensive range of engaging and authentic primary sources

The work sheets in this series are ideal for group or individual study and are easy for classroom helpers to implement in one-on-one lessons. You can also use the units of work for revision, assessment and home study.

Achieve! History Analysing and Interpreting Primary Sources World War 1

While very suitable for the regular classroom, the Achieve! series of History titles has been written at a literacy level that is appropriate for students who, because of poor reading skills, may struggle with regular classroom materials.

The Analysing and Interpreting Primary Sources series makes it easy to include stimulating primary sources in Australian History lessons. The units do not teach every aspect of the topic. Instead, they support the teaching of the topic by providing authentic documents and images of the time that more fully explore significant events, opinions and ideas. Additional background information for each unit can be found in the companion titles, Achieve! History – World War 1 (Books 1, 2).

This series has been written to match the Australian Curriculum: History and address requirements of the New South Wales and Victorian History curriculums.

Topics include

- The causes of World War 1
- Symbols of nationalism
- Indigenous Australians at war
- Conscription
- Chemical warfare
- War photographers
- Caring for survivors
- The impact of war on families
- Analysing interviews
- Anzac Day

Associated titles in the Achieve! Instant Lessons series

Achieve!* History series

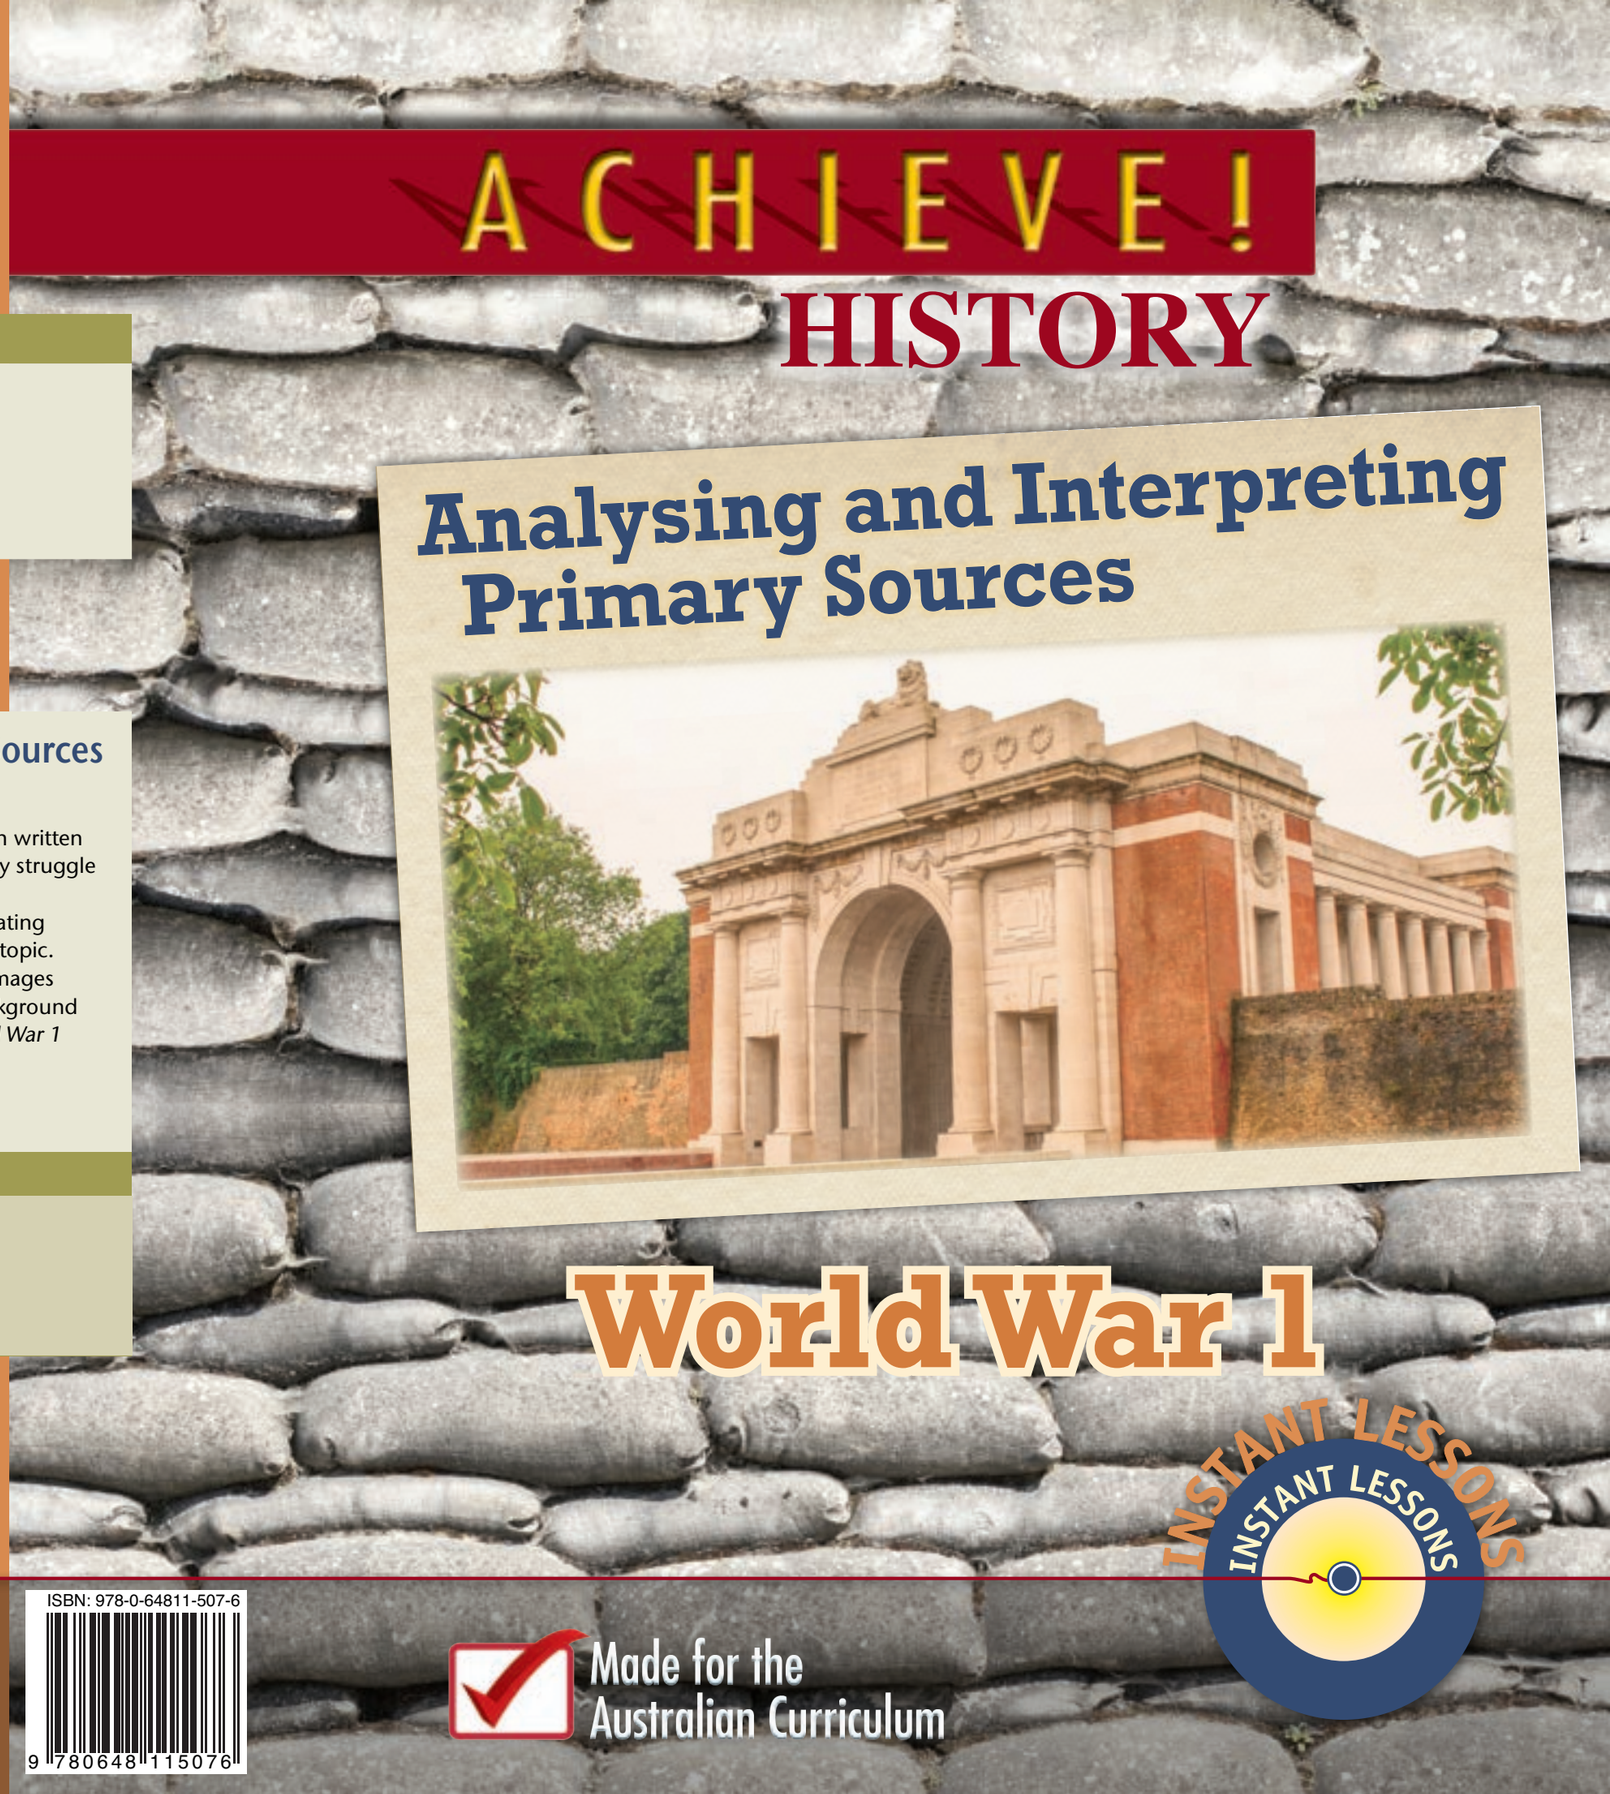
- World War 1 (Books 1, 2)
- Analysing and Interpreting Primary Sources – Making a Nation 1750–1918
- Making a Nation 1750–1918
- Rights and Freedoms
- The Industrial Revolution 1750–1914
- Pop Culture 1945–present

Blake EDUCATION
Better ways to learn

Instant Lessons
An imprint of Blake Education Pty Ltd
ABN 50 074 266 023
108 Main Rd Clayton South VIC 3169
+61 3 9558 4433
www.blake.com.au

Made for the Australian Curriculum



ISBN: 978-0-64811-507-6
9 780648 115076

Made for the Australian Curriculum

ACHIEVE!

HISTORY

Analysing and Interpreting Primary Sources

World War 1

This book was commissioned by Jennifer Gough.
Project management, editing, typesetting and cover design by Ruth Schultz Proofreading by Marie Theodore

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

The publisher wishes to thank history teacher Rachel Towns and historian Abigail Belfrage for their contribution to this title.

© Blake Education 2020

Blake Education owns all copyrights in the literary and the artistic works in this book.

Every effort has been made to trace copyright holders and to obtain their permission for the use of copyright material. The publisher apologises for any errors or omissions and would be grateful if notified of any corrections that should be incorporated in future reprints or editions of this book.

All material identified by AC is material subject to copyright under the Copyright Act 1968 (Cth) and is owned by the Australian Curriculum, Assessment and Reporting Authority.
For all Australian Curriculum material except elaborations: This is an extract from the Australian Curriculum.
Elaborations: This may be a modified extract from the Australian Curriculum and may include the work of other authors.
Disclaimer: ACARA neither endorses nor verifies the accuracy of the information provided and accepts no responsibility for incomplete or inaccurate information. In particular, ACARA does not endorse or verify that:
• The content descriptions are solely for a particular year and subject;
• All the content descriptions for that year and subject have been used; and
• The author's material aligns with the Australian Curriculum content descriptions for the relevant year and subject.
You can find the unaltered and most up to date version of the material at http://www.australiancurriculum.edu.au This material is reproduced with the permission of ACARA.

Downloadables sold with a licence to print and photocopy

The contents of this book are covered by copyright laws in Australia and in other countries. The purchase price includes the right for you to print and photocopy these pages for your students without further payment to the publisher. For further information about how schools can use this photocopiable resource, please refer to the 'FAQ's on www.blake.com.au.

Otherwise, you may only download, print, copy, store and communicate the contents of this book without permission when that is allowed by the copyright laws applicable to you.

If you work in an Australian school that is covered by the education statutory licence, you may be allowed to copy, download, print, store and communicate parts of this book without permission from copyright owners. Under the education statutory licence, payments are made on behalf of schools to Copyright Agency, which distributes the payments to writers, artists and publishers. See www.copyright.com.au.

Copyright Agency
Level 12, 66 Goulburn Street
Sydney NSW 2000
Telephone: (02) 9394 7600
Facsimile: (02) 9394 7601
E-mail: memberservices@copyright.com.au

Blake EDUCATION
Better ways to learn

Instant Lessons
An imprint of Blake Education Pty Ltd
ABN 50 074 266 023
108 Main Road
Clayton South VIC 3169
Ph: +61 3 9558 4433
info@blake.com.au
www.blake.com.au

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

Aboriginal people and Torres Strait Islanders are advised that this book may contain images of people who have died.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

Contents

Achieve!

Introduction 4

1 The causes of World War 1 5
Alliances 6
Fighting for the Empire 7
Ruling the seas 8
'The Big Picture' 9
Symbols of nationalism 10

2 Australians enlist 11
Why nurses joined up 1 12
Why nurses joined up 2 13
Why men joined up 14
'Gratifying Results' 15
Comparing sources 16

3 The nature of war 17
Comparing modern and WW1 soldiers 1 18
Comparing modern and WW1 soldiers 2 19
Nursing at The Front 20
Matron Bessie Pocock 21
Chemical warfare 22

4 How the war was reported 23
War photographers 24
Comparing photographs 25
Composite images 26
Truth and photography 27
'Battle-scarred sentinels' 28

5 Indigenous Australians at war 29
Private William Allan Irwin 30
Irregularly enlisted 31
Harry Blake 32
The boxing soldier 33
Good enough to fight, but not good enough to vote 34

6 Conscription 35
The argument for 'Yes' 36
The argument for 'No' 37
The power of images 38
The power of words –YES! 39
The power of words – NO! 40

7 The impact of war on women and families 41
'An Australian Girl at War Work' 42
Understanding a newspaper article 43
Voluntary work 44
Analysing a photograph 45
The impact on children 46

8 The impact of war on men 47
The male population 48
Reading the data 49
Welcome home 50
A lost generation 51
Returning to work 52

9 The economy and society 53
The Digger's idol 54
'Reading' a newspaper 55
War pensions 56
Caring for survivors 57
Soldier settlements 58

10 Anzac traditions 59
The first Anzac Day 60
Anzac Day – then and now 61
A battle that shaped a nation? 62
Analysing interviews 63
Comparing online primary sources 64

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Introduction

Achieve!

While very suitable for the regular classroom, each of the Achieve! series of History titles has been written at a literacy level that makes the pages appropriate for students who, because of poor reading skills, may struggle to comprehend regular classroom materials. Due to the nature of many of the primary resources, some students will need additional language support to access the content. The Teacher's Notes pages include words in the primary sources that students may need help to define and understand. Some pages include definitions or definition activities.

The Analysing and Interpreting Primary Sources series makes it easy to include stimulating primary sources in Australian History lessons. The units do not teach every aspect of the topic. Instead, they support the teaching of the topic by providing authentic documents and images of the time that more fully explore significant events, opinions and ideas.

The Teacher's Notes provide valuable guidance about using each unit. They have lesson objectives, suggested prior knowledge, additional questions to ask students about the primary sources and some background information for each topic. Additional background information for each unit can be obtained in the companion titles:

- Achieve! History World War I Book 1, Kate Crowhurst, 2013, ISBN 9781922090645
- Achieve! History World War I Book 2, Kate Crowhurst, 2013, ISBN 9781922090652.

Source citation abbreviations used throughout this book:

- NLA – National Library of Australia
- SLV –State Library of Victoria.

This series has been written to match the Australian Curriculum: History and address requirements of the New South Wales and Victorian History curriculums.

The Australian Curriculum alignment Year 9	Unit
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary and secondary sources (ACHHS169)	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Process and synthesise information from a range of sources for use as evidence in an historical argument (ACHHS170)	✓	✓			✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Evaluate the reliability and usefulness of primary and secondary sources (ACHHS171)	✓		✓	✓		✓		✓
Identify and analyse the perspectives of people from the past (ACHHS172)	✓		✓		✓	✓	✓		✓	✓
Identify and analyse different historical interpretations (including their own) (ACHHS173)						✓			✓	✓
An overview of the causes of World War I and the reasons why men enlisted to fight in the war (ACDSEH021)	✓	✓
The places where Australians fought and the nature of warfare during World War I, including the Gallipoli campaign (ACDSEH095)			✓	✓	✓
The impact of World War I, with a particular emphasis on Australia including the changing role of women (ACDSEH096)						✓	✓	✓	✓
The commemoration of World War I, including debates about the nature and significance of the Anzac legend (ACDSEH097)										✓

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

I Teacher's notes – The causes of World War I

Achieve!

Objectives

- To interpret and analyse primary sources that support knowledge about the key causes of World War 1: alliances, militarism, nationalism and imperialism
- Evaluate the reliability of primary sources
- Analyse the perspectives of people from the past
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Think about information from a source that could be used as evidence in a historical argument
- Identify and analyse the perspectives of people from the past

Prior knowledge

Students should understand the key world alliances before and during World War 1, and be familiar with the terms alliance, militarism, nationalism and imperialism. They should also know the extent of the British Empire and understand its relationship with and impact on Australia and Australians.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

Alliances (Activity sheet, p. 6)

Students should understand the meaning of these words and phrases as used in the context of the source: verdict, menace, indignant, violation, laws of humanity.

Italy is commonly listed as part of the Triple Alliance. But in this source, Italy has joined the Entente (middle column). The Treaty of London 1915 was a secret pact between the Triple Entente and the Kingdom of Italy. The pact gained the alliance of Italy against its former allies, including the German Empire and Austria-Hungary.

Source analysis question

- How did Imperialism help to make World War 1 become an international war, rather than a European war?

Fighting for the Empire (Activity sheet, p. 7)

Students should understand the meaning of these words and phrases as used in the context of the source: tract of land, statesmen, decay, liberty.

Question 1 suggested examples: Our King, We can all help to make the Empire great, as our Empire, our responsibility as citizens.

Source analysis questions

- Would non-Indigenous Australians have seen England as the 'mother country'?
- Was the positive attitude towards England and the British Empire encouraged by the Australian government?

Ruling the seas (Activity sheet, p. 8)
Source analysis questions

- Look at the drawing in the bottom right corner. Why do you think the illustrator included the extra boats with masts?

'The Big Picture' (Activity sheet, p. 9)
Source analysis questions

- Why do you think the opening of the first Australian Parliament took place in Melbourne?
- Why was this painting created? Who would be the audience in 1910? Who would be the audience today?
- Why would the three judges and the two men of religion be placed in such prominent (important) places in the painting?

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

http://ergo.slv.vic.gov.au/explore-history/australia-wwi/home-wwi/rush-enlist

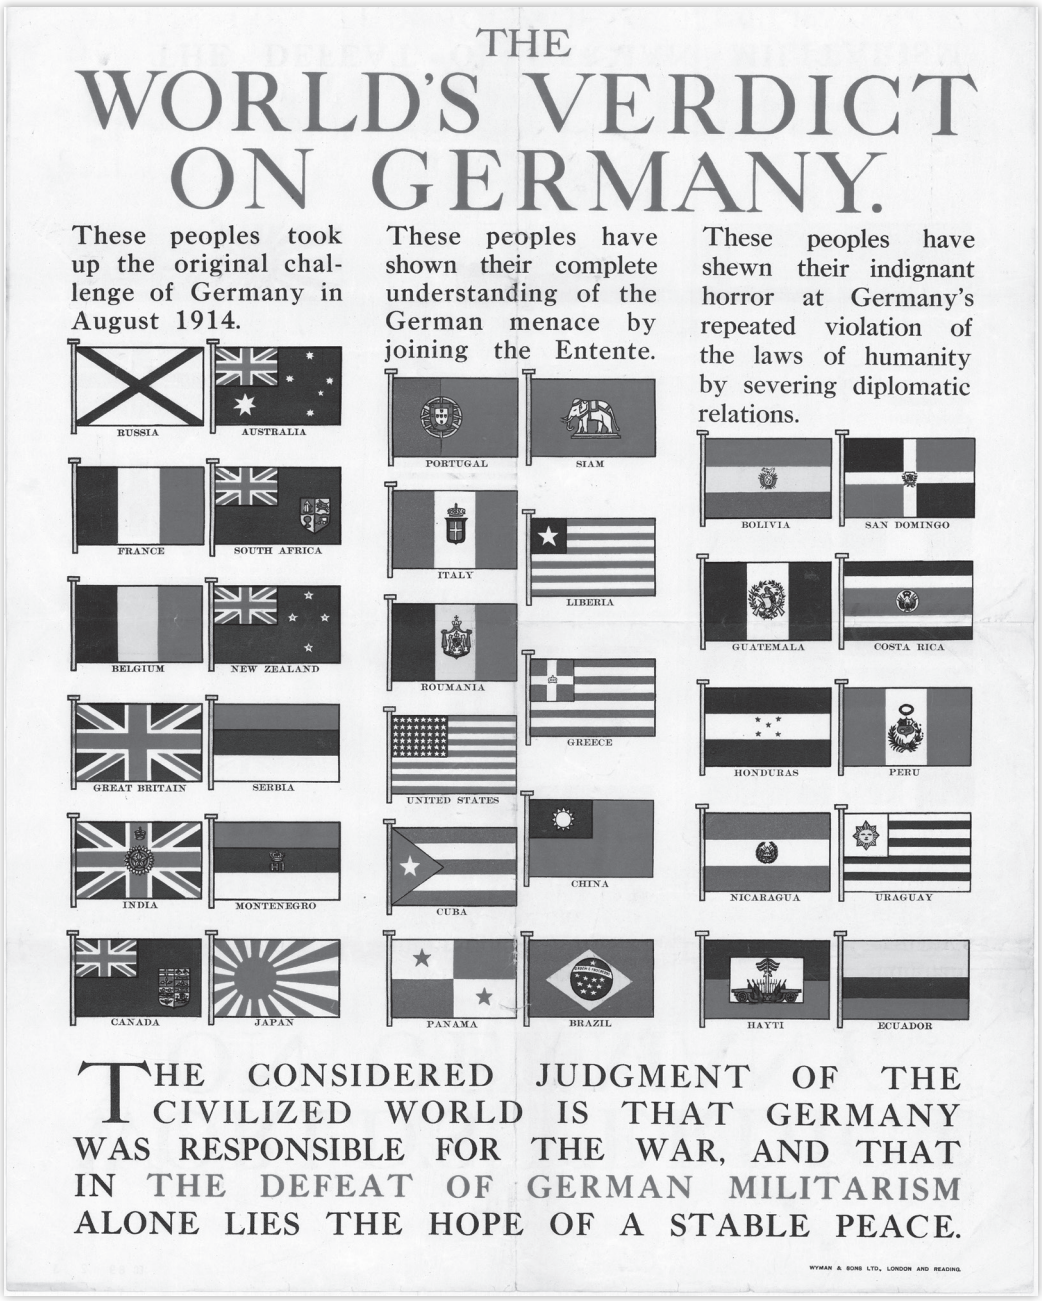
https://www.abc.net.au/news/2014-08-04/stephens-we-didnt-choose-to-join-wwi-and-nothing-has-changed/5628878

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Alliances

The Triple Entente was an alliance between the British Empire, France and Russia. They fought against the Triple Alliance during World War 1. The Triple Alliance included Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy and the Ottoman Empire (Turkey).



The World's Verdict on Germany., Riley and Ephemera collection. Poster collection (1910). SLV 273647

☞ Answer these questions in your workbook.

1 Look at the symbols on six of the flags in the left-hand group. What do you notice?

2 Where are the countries in the right-hand column located?

3 Highlight these phrases on the poster: The world's verdict on Germany, German menace, indignant horror at Germany's repeated violation of the laws of humanity.

4 What are the main messages of this poster?

© Blake Education 2020
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

Fighting for the Empire

During World War 1, Australians saw England as the 'mother country'. Many Australians wanted to fight with the British Empire because of this special relationship.

☞ 1 Read Effie Kiel's essay. Underline the words that show the writer feels she is a part of the British Empire. One example has been underlined already.

2 Describe how this source supports the point of view that many Australians felt they had a special relationship with the British Empire.

THE BRITISH EMPIRE.
A CHILD'S ESSAY.

At the Buln Buln East State school in connection with the celebration of Empire Day, a prize was given for the best essay on "The British Empire" and the prize was awarded to Miss Effie Kiel, whose essay was as follows:--

THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The British Empire is the largest and greatest Empire in the World. An Empire can be great without being large, but the British Empire is both great and large. Our King rules over 400,000,000 subjects or 24% of the earth's population. If we look at the map of the world we will see that many places are colored red, this means that these places belong to the British Empire. If they were put together they would form a tract of land 12,000,000 square miles in area.

We can all help to make the Empire great. One man could not make an Empire; statesmen, explorers, scientists, soldiers, sailors, and many others are needed to make one. The British Empire was not formed in one year, neither was it formed in one hundred years. Men have been building it up for hundreds of years, men such as Drake, Raleigh, Hawkins, Blake, Nelson, Clive, Pitt, Wolfe and Cook.

What is the reason of our Empire being so great? There are many reasons. Great Britain is surrounded by water, and thus while the neighboring countries were fighting she had time to colonize other places. The British people are fond of the sea and so they are able to effectively protect her colonies. We should be careful not to become lazy or proud as our Empire will then decay as the Roman and Spanish Empires did.

The British people have always been fond of liberty, but sometimes they have denied this to others. They taxed the Americans unjustly and the opium trade is a blot on their fame; but they treat their colonies fairly. We have one flag the Union Jack (red, white and blue,) the colors of the Empire stand for courage, purity and loyalty. The Union Jack floats in almost every part of the world and wherever we see it, it reminds us of the great British Empire and our responsibility as citizens of it. EFFIE KIEL, 12 yrs, 9 mos.

Source: West Gippsland Gazette (Warragul, Victoria), Tuesday 3 June 1913, page 7

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Ruling the seas

Before World War 1 began, Germany challenged the British Empire by building up their military resources. In 1906, Britain built new Dreadnought warships that had better gun power and speed than other countries' ships. Illustrations of some of the British fleet appeared in the newspaper, The Queenslander, in 1914.

The Queenslander Pictorial*, supplement to The Queenslander, 15 August, 1914, page 28.
John Oxley Library, State Library of Queensland

☞ 1 Annotate the drawings, pointing out the ships main features and any other interesting features in the images.

2 What do the illustrations tell you about the British Empire?

3 Why were Australians interested in seeing illustrations of British warships in the newspaper?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

'The Big Picture'

Tom Roberts's artwork documented the opening of the first parliament of Australia in Melbourne, May 1903. His artwork was called 'The Big Picture' and it was created before World War 1 started in 1914. It includes 269 portraits of people who attended the event. Think about what this artwork shows about the relationship between Australia and the British Empire.

Title:
The Opening of the First Parliament of the Commonwealth of Australia by His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall and York, 9 May 1901

Artist:
Roberts, Tom, 1856–1931

Date: 1903

Source:
State Library of Victoria H27644

Description:
Print of an original oil painting

☞ Circle these key features of the artwork.

- three judges wearing wigs at the front
- the Duke of Cornwall (later King George V) on the stage making a speech
- the Prime Minister of Australia, Edmund Barton, standing in front of the stage, with papers, facing the Duke
- two female members of the Royal family in long dresses behind the Duke
- a large crown behind the stage
- a row of large flags in the centre of the print
- the large shaft of sunlight in the top right of the print
- two men in religious robes (skull cap, tall black hat) in the bottom left corner

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Symbols of nationalism

☞ Use the primary source on the Activity sheet, 'The Big Picture', to answer the questions.

A feeling of nationalism encouraged people in many different countries to become involved in World War 1.

1 Who do you think is the most important person in this artwork? Why do you think this?

2 What parts of the artwork represent the British Empire?

3 Why do you think the men in wigs and religious robes are at the front of the artwork?

4 What does the shaft of bright sunlight make you think about? What idea does it suggest about what is happening in the artwork?

5 In your opinion, how would this artwork encourage Australians to think that the British Empire was better than other Empires in the world?

6 Why was nationalism so important to the success of government recruitment programs during World War I?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

2 Teacher's notes – Australians enlist

Achieve!

Objectives

- Interpret and analyse primary sources that were used to encourage people to enlist
- Examine the personal motivations for why people enlisted
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Think about information from a source that could be used as evidence in a historical argument

Prior knowledge

Students should have a basic understanding of when and where Australians served during World War 1.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

Why nurses joined up 1 (Activity sheet, p. 12)
Source analysis questions

- If you were a nurse at the time of World War 1, which reason do you think would appeal to you and encourage you to enlist?

Why nurses joined up 2 (Activity sheet, p. 13)
Source analysis questions

- How would you describe the way Nurse Tomlins and her brother present themselves in this photograph? Why would it have been taken and who would have a copy?
- What is the mood of the photograph of Nurse Tomlins and her brother?
- Examine their uniforms. Does it look like either of them have recently or ever seen action in the war? What gives you that impression?

Why men joined up (Resource sheet, p. 14)
Source analysis questions

Source 1: This poster shows Lieutenant Jacka, who was Australia's first Victoria Cross of World War 1. He landed at Gallipoli on 26 April 1915. His heroic bravery made him a favourite subject for the conscription argument and he was featured on recruitment posters.

- What physical features of Lieutenant Jacka made him an ideal subject for this poster?

Source 2: This poster shows a group of German soldiers with their rifles pointed at a bare-chested man who is backed up against a corrugated iron tank on a stand. Another man has been shot in the head and lies on the ground, while a kneeling woman pleads with the German officer in charge. Students need to notice the woman in this image to answer question 8 about the role of women in the conscription debate (Activity sheet, 'Comparing sources', p.16).

- How would you describe the 'emotional temperature' of this image?

Source 3: This double-sided recruitment leaflet is in the form of a holiday brochure. The journey to Britain and France is described as a pleasure cruise. The war is only referred to indirectly as the 'Great Adventure' . The leaflet also gives details of pay, allowances and pensions available to those who join the 'tour'.

- In your opinion, how morally correct was it to compare joining the armed forces with taking a holiday?

'Gratifying Results' (Resource sheet, p. 15)

Students should understand the meaning of these words and phrases as used in the context of the source: Shirker, Victoria Cross, Ma.

Source analysis questions

- What purpose are postcards used for today?
- Do postcards of today have political messages, like 'Gratifying Results' does? Think about how gifs and memes might have replaced postcards in this role.

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://www.awm.gov.au/articles/encyclopedia/enlistment/ww1

http://ergo.slv.vic.gov.au/explore-history/australia-wwi/home-wwi/rush-enlist

https://guides.sl.nsw.gov.au/c.php?g=671848&p=4728886

Further reading

Laffin, J. Digger The legend of the Australian soldier, Macmillan, Australia, 1959

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Why nurses joined up 1

Australian nurses had to be qualified, single and in good health to join the Australian Army Nursing Service during World War 1. They were paid less than men, so they did not join up for employment and a wage like men did. Around 3000 women served as nurses in WW1.

☞ Read these diary quotes from WW1 nurses. Match each quote with the reason the woman joined the war.

Source 1

'now I have the opportunity that I ought to go. Nurses are badly needed goodness knows and someone must do it.'

Sister Evelyn Davies

AWM 3DRL3398B
27 April 1915, 2 MID Hospital

Wanting to travel and have adventures

Source 2

So glad to be coming to France. Hope we stay here and get out to the Front and be a good help and do good work.

PR05050 – Papers of Sister Mary Anne "Bessie" Pocock Australian War Memorial

Developing new skills

Source 3

'There was the prospect of travel and I had always wanted to do that.'

Staff Nurse Nellie Pike

Digger, The Legends of the Australian soldier, p. 63 John Laffin, 1986, Pan Macmillan (John Laffin was Nellie Pike's son)

A sense of duty

Source 4

'I have never regretted that I took the notion into my head to take on nursing, for it has opened up opportunities that I would never have had.'

Sister Jessie Millicent Tomlins in a letter to Margetta Tomlins
6 October 1917

Having more varied work experiences

Source 5

'I expected to learn more at war, and, my God, I did'

Staff Nurse Nellie Pike

Digger, The Legends of the Australian soldier, p. 63 John Laffin, 1986, Pan Macmillan (John Laffin was Nellie Pike's son)

Wanting to help the war effort

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Why nurses joined up 2

☞ Use the Activity sheet, 'Why nurses joined up 1', to complete the activities.

1 Complete these sentences.

- One reason women wanted to join the Australian Army Nursing Service was …

- Some other nurses joined up because …

- Other reasons nurses served in the war were …

2 Look at Sources 4 and 6. Write a paragraph to describe what sort of person you think Jessie Millicent Tomlins was. Include examples or evidence in your paragraph to support your opinion.

Source 6

Studio portrait of 442 Lieutenant (Lt) Fred Harold Tomlins and his sister Staff Nurse Jessie Millicent Tomlins AWM P09445.008 https://www.awm.gov.au/collection/C1260910

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

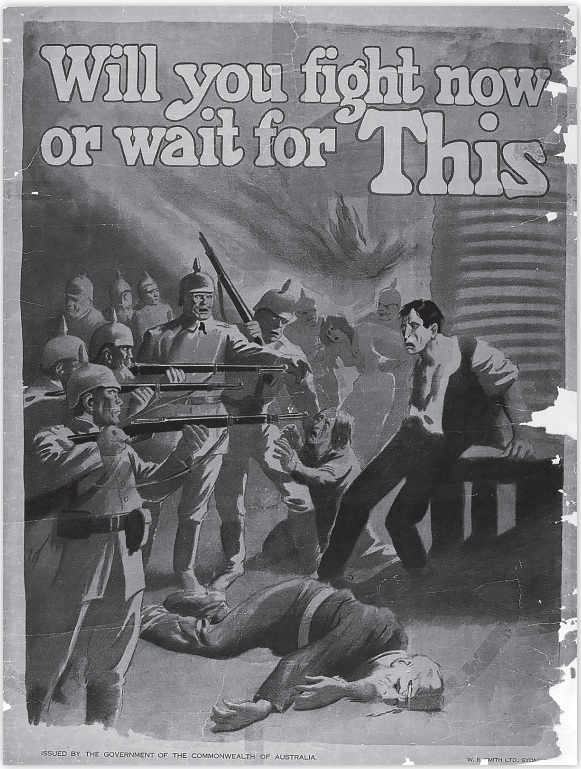
© Blake Education 2020

Why men joined up

Source 1

Title: Enlist in the Sportmen's 1000 Play up and play THE game
Author / Creator: Troedel & Cooper lithographers.
Publisher: Melbourne: Troedel & Cooper Pty Ltd.
Date: 1915
Description: poster
SLV H2001.34/3a

Source 2



Title: Will you fight now or wait for This Author / Creator: Norman Lindsay 1879-1969, artist
Date: c. 1915 and 1918
Description: poster
SLV H141838

Source 3

HOW YOU ARE PAID DAILY WHILE ON THIS TOUR.

Acting-Bombardier, Lance-Corporal, Gunner, Sapper, Private, Bandsman, Collarmaker, Saddler, Wheeler, Trumpeter, Bugler, Drummer, Cook, Batman, Stretcher-bearer .. .. 1/- deferred.	6/-
Shoeing Smith and Driver .. .. .. 1/- deferred.	7/-
Cleaners and Waggonmen (Mechanical Transport) .. .. 1/- deferred.	6/-
Mechanical Transport— Workshop Fitters, Turners, Blacksmiths, Wheelers, Electricians, and Drivers Mechanics (Flying Unit and A.M.C. Motor Lorries) .. .. 1/- deferred.	8/-
2nd Corporal Bombardier .. .. 1/6 deferred.	9/-
Corporal, Armourer, Band, Shoeing-smith, Signalling or Pay and Orderly-room Corporal .. .. 1/6 deferred.	10/-
Sergeant, Pioneer, Signalling, Transport, Armourer, or Band-Sergeant, Sergeant-Trumpeter .. .. 2/- deferred.	10/6
Squadron, Battery, Troop, or Company Quartermaster-Sergeant, Orderly-room Sergeant, Farrier, Collarmaker, Wheeler, or Saddler-Sergeant, or Sergeants of Mechanical Transport and Flying Units .. .. 2/- deferred.	11/6
Staff-Sergeant-Major, Squadron, Battery, Troop, or Company Sergeant-Major, Farrier Quartermaster-Sergeant, Quartermaster-Sergeant (Flying Unit), Colour-Sergeant, Staff-Sergeant, Armourer Staff-Sergeant, Sergeant-Cook, Wheeler, Staff-Sergeant .. .. .. 2/- deferred.	12/-
Staff-Sergeant (Wireless) .. .. .. 2/6 deferred.	14/-
Brigade or Regimental Sergeant-Major, Quartermaster-Sergeant, Armament Artificer, Foreman Artificer (Mechanical Transport), Foreman Mechanic (Flying Unit), Warrant Officer .. 2/6 deferred.	13/-
Lieutenant, 2nd Lieutenant .. .. .. 3/- deferred.	21/-

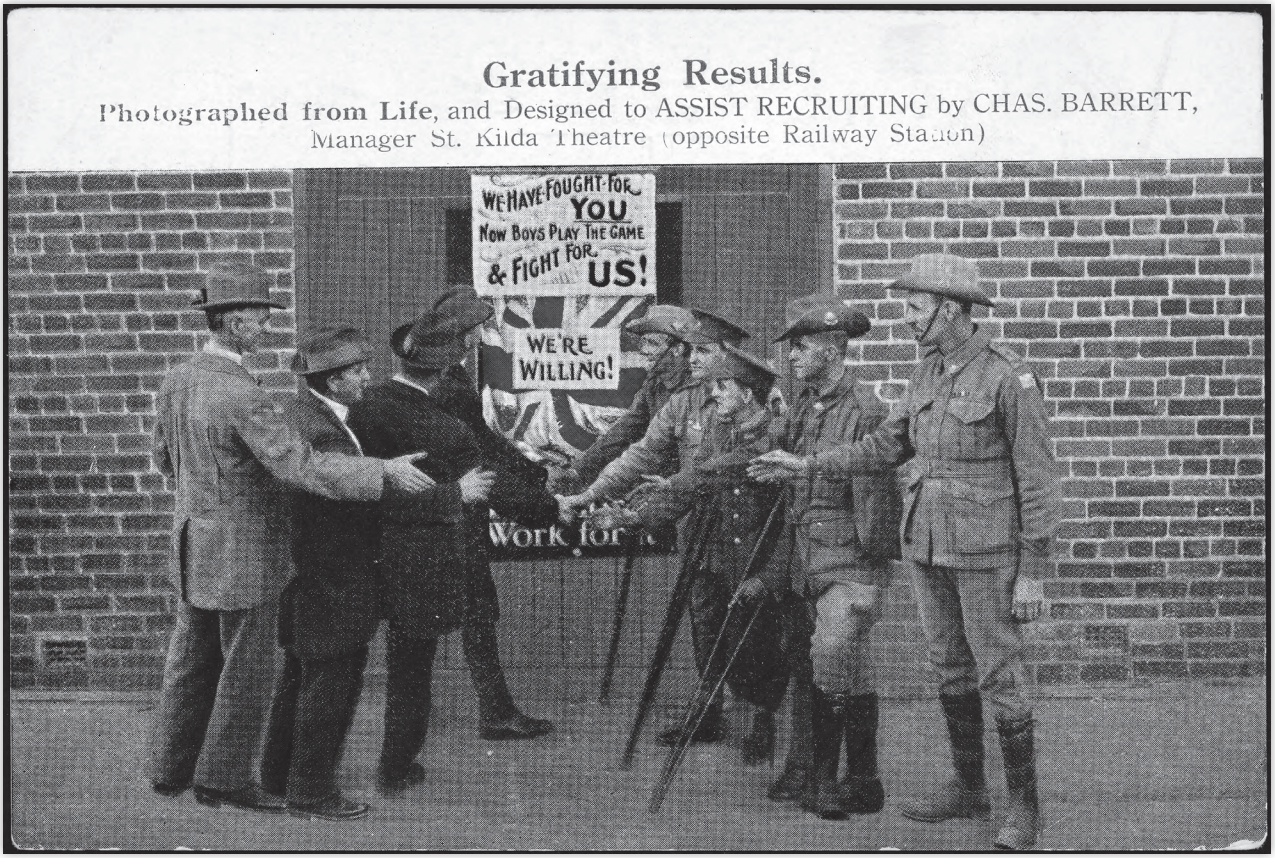
Title: Free Tour to Great Britain and Europe. The chance of a life time
Author / Creator: State Recruiting Committee William Brooks & Co. Ltd NSW
Date: c. 1914-1918
Description: Double-sided brochure
AWM RC02289

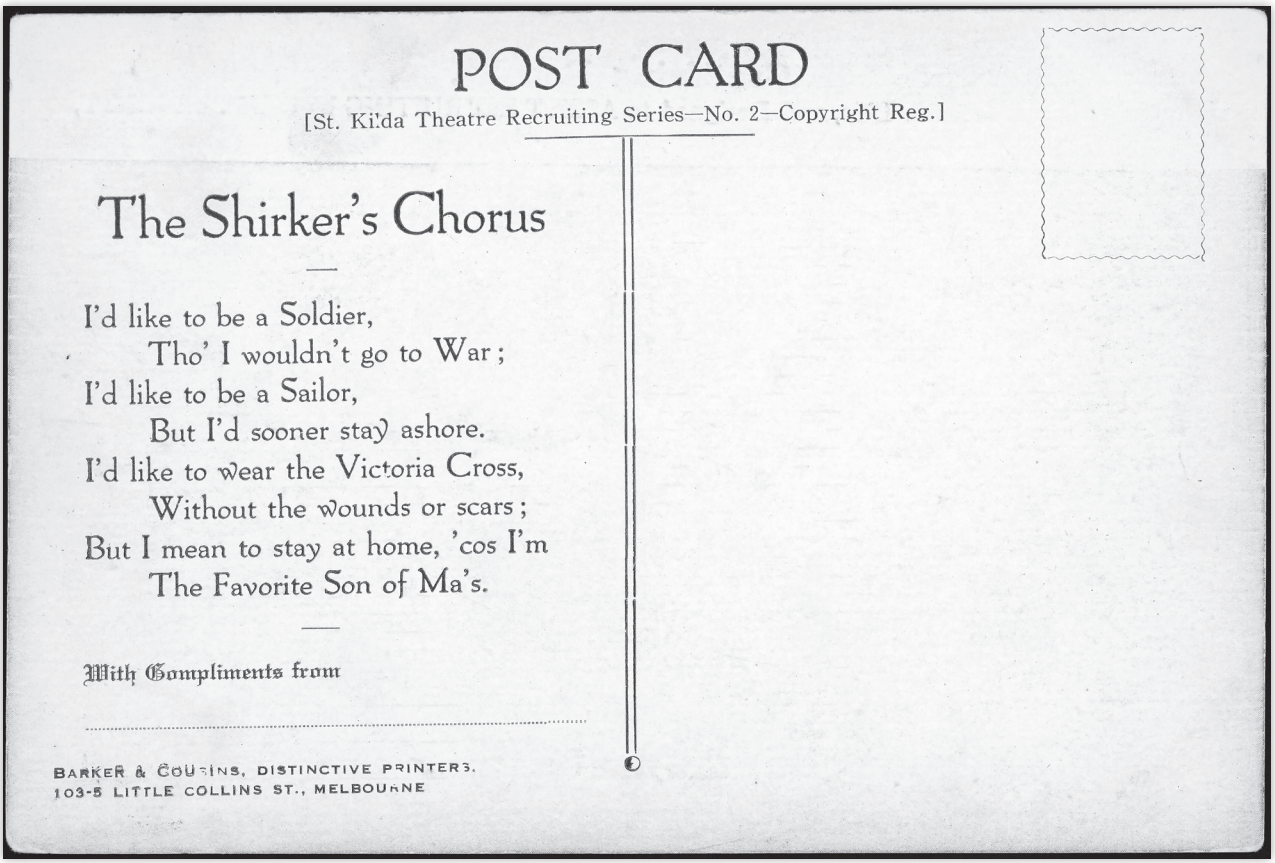
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

‘Gratifying Results’

Source 4





POST CARD

[St. Kilda Theatre Recruiting Series—No. 2—Copyright Reg.]

The Shirker's Chorus

I'd like to be a Soldier,
Tho' I wouldn't go to War;
I'd like to be a Sailor,
But I'd sooner stay ashore.
I'd like to wear the Victoria Cross,
Without the wounds or scars;
But I mean to stay at home, 'cos I'm
The Favorite Son of Ma's.

With Compliments from

BARKER & COUSINS, DISTINCTIVE PRINTERS.
103-5 LITTLE COLLINS ST., MELBOURNE

Gratifying Results. Author / Creator: Chas.Barrett. Date: 1917. Description: double-sided postcard. NLA 136039798

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Comparing sources

☞ Using the Resource sheets, 'Why men joined up', and 'Gratifying Results', answer these ten questions. Write the answers in your workbook and use the word bank to help.

The main ideas

1 In bullet points, summarise the main ideas of each source: 1, 2, 3 and 4. Use the images and words in each source to help explain your answers.

The audience

2 Underline the 'Description' of each source. Where might men have seen or been given original copies of these sources?

3 What type of man might find the ideas in Source 3 the most persuasive?

4 What is a 'shirker'? Who might be given a copy of this postcard? (Source 4)

Comparing sources

5 Sources 1 and 4 include the word 'play'. What message does the word 'play' give about war? What type of audience would be persuaded by this message?

6 Circle the flags in two of the sources. Are they the same? Why are the flags included in the images?

7 Compare the images of soldiers in Sources 1 and 4. What do these images say about how the government tried to recruit men?

8 Circle the references to women in Sources 2 and 4. Explain how you think ideas about women were used to help recruit men.

Developing your own point of view

9 Which source/s best shows what being a soldier at war is really like? Give reasons for your answer.

10 Would you have enlisted to fight? Explain your reasons.

Word bank

- adventure
- athletic
- country
- employment
- fear
- Great Britain
- healthy
- injured
- lifestyle
- paid
- patriotism
- peer pressure
- recruit
- shame
- soldier
- sport
- strong
- uniform
- Union Jack
- wage

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

3 Teacher's notes – The nature of warfare

Achieve!

Objectives

- Understand where people served and the conditions and nature of warfare during World War 1
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Evaluate the reliability and usefulness of primary sources
- Identify and analyse the perspectives of people from the past

Prior knowledge

Students could benefit from some knowledge of where Australian soldiers have served since World War 1, including, most recently, East Timor and Afghanistan.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

Comparing modern and WW1 soldiers 1 (Resource sheet, p. 18)

Source analysis question

- Pick a soldier from one of the photographs. Imagine them travelling in time to the other group of soldiers. What are some of the things they might really enjoy or find useful about the uniforms and equipment they find there? What might they dislike?

Nursing at The Front (Resource sheet, p. 20)

Students should understand the meaning of these words and phrases as used in the context of the source:

- excise eyes – cut the eyes out from the head
- M.O. – medical officer or doctor
- trying to do all the smashed up – cleaning and caring for patients' wounds
- 6 feet by 4 – measuring approximately 1.8 × 1.1 m
- abdominal wounds – wounds in the area of the stomach.

Source analysis questions

- What five words would you use to describe Matron Pocock's character?
- What five words would you use to describe the job of an Australian nurse during WW1?

Chemical warfare (Activity sheet, p. 22)

Students should locate Bois l'Abbé on a map of France.

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: vapour, contaminated, inhaling.

Source analysis questions

Source 1

- How might the soldiers have got to this location? Do you think they walked or were they evacuated there by truck or horse-drawn cart?
- What do you think is going through the soldiers' minds?
- If these are the soldiers that got away from the mustard gas, what kind of scene might they have escaped from?
- The soldiers don't seem to have any equipment or weapons on them. Why not? Where might their equipment be?

Source 4

- How effective and comfortable would it be to wear the gas mask? (Source 4)

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://anzac100.initiatives.qld.gov.au/remember/western-front/index.aspx https://anzaccentenary.vic.gov.au/westernfront/history

https://emergency.cdc.gov/agent/sulfurmustard/basics/facts.asp

https://www.awm.gov.au/sites/default/files/Devotion.pdf

Further reading

Adam-Smith, P. Australian Women at war, Penguin Books Melbourne, 1984

Rees, P. Anzac Girls: An Extraordinary Story of World War 1 Nurses, Allen & Unwin, 2015

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Comparing modern and WWI soldiers 1

Australian Army soldiers Sapper Steven Matthews (left), Private Kayla O'Brien, Sapper Matthew Sullivan and Sapper Sam Brown at Lavarack Barracks, Townsville, on 18 November 2016.
Image Series No.:S20163034. Photographer: © Commonwealth of Australia, Department of Defence.
Copyright: © Commonwealth of Australia 2015

Portrait of five Australian soldiers. Identified, left, is 2904 Sergeant (Sgt) Angus Valentine Wilson, 4th Pioneer Battalion (middle row, left), a milkman from Williamstown, Victoria, and 1144 Private (later Lieutenant) Ernest Edward Cruickshank (back row, left), 18th Battalion, a clerk from Sydney, New South Wales. Place made: France: Picardie, Somme, Vignacourt. Date made: c 1916-1918. AWM H04123

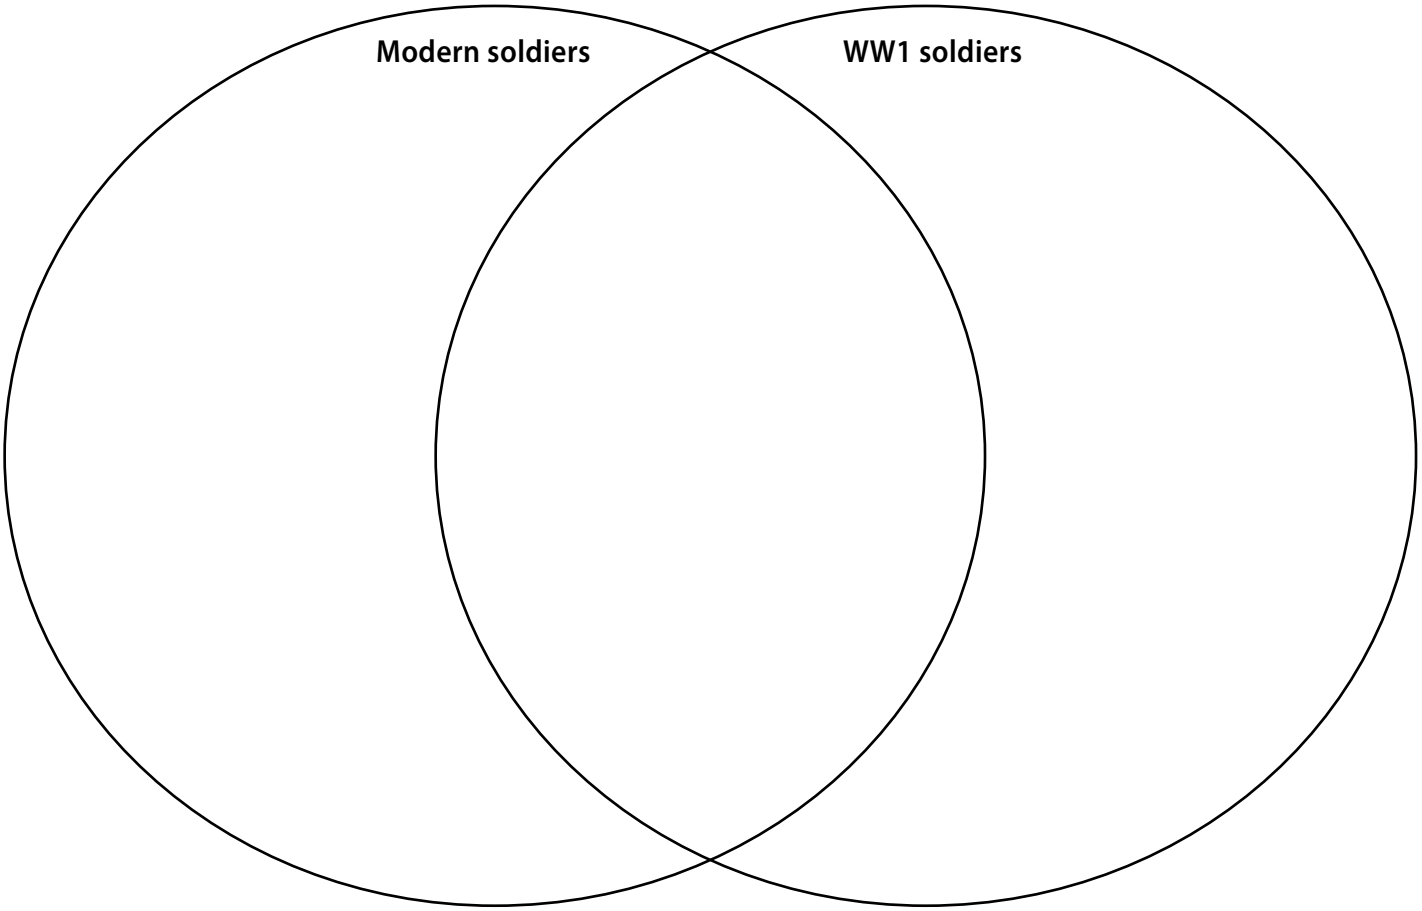
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Comparing modern and WWI soldiers 2

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'Comparing modern and WW1 soldiers 1', to answer the questions.

1 Look carefully at the images of the modern soldiers and the World War 1 soldiers.
Write the things the images have in common (similarities) in the space where the circles overlap.
Write the differences in the separate parts of the circle.



2 What might the soldiers carry in their uniform pockets?

- Modern soldiers _____

_____

- World War 1 soldiers _____

_____

3 Compared to modern uniforms, how well would the clothing of the World War 1 soldiers protect them from weather, bullets and bombs? Give reasons for your answer.

_____

_____

_____

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Nursing at The Front

Matron Mary Anne (Bessie) Pocock (1863-1946) was an Australian nurse who served in the Boar War and World War 1. She received medals for her service and was described as a kind and highly organised nurse. These quotes are from her diary, written in 1916 when Pocock served in France.

July 6th

Nothing in the tent to work with DREADFUL! Sister came to help about 9/30am. Such bad cases, poor boys, so dirty and tired. Some had laid out for several days, they told me. Jaw cases very bad, chest also. 5 operations - excise eyes, 20 operations on eyes today and 5 of those, both eyes gone. Poor chaps. Terrible - Terrible!

Got straight this afternoon. M.O.'s coming in all day - seeing eyes. Seem to forget that you are alone, trying to do all the smashed up and wash some dirt of(f) your men.

... No time off for anyone hardly today.

July 17th

If rations are good enough for men working in trenches etc. it is good enough for these women ... Aeroplane over our tents this morning - so close to us.

July 22nd

Very cold again. Did not sleep so well today ... We do not get enough to eat - 2 sardines and one boiled egg alternatively. Awfully bad food and not enough of it.

July 24th

Some buttercups blooming at my bedside in the tent. Grass a foot high about 6 feet by 4. Every other place I've had a tent the floor has been covered with boards, both for patients and sisters, nothing is done here like any other place though.

August 3rd

Guns very noisy and frequent - hardly ever stop. Not many patients considering all the gun fire. Some more men during the night - still today, abdominal wounds - leg - head cases - another appendicitis.

1 Maori, leg amputated this morning.

Source: AWM PR05050 – Papers of Sister Mary Anne "Bessie" Pocock

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Matron Bessie Pocock

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'Nursing at The Front', to answer the questions.

1 Read Matron Bessie Pocock's diary excerpts and think about what she, other nurses and the soldiers might have experienced at war. Complete the table based on what you think they experienced.

Felt	hungry,
Smelled	fresh blood,
Saw	wounds,
Heard
Touched
Tasted

2 Explain what is happening to the soldiers in the Matron's diary excerpts.

3 "Some buttercups blooming at my bedside …"
Describe what you think it would have been like living in a tent like the Matron's.

4 Reread the comments from the 6th, 17th and 24th of July. What does the source tell you about how nurses were treated and viewed at this time?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Chemical warfare

Chemical warfare was used by both the German army and Allied armies during World War 1. Thousands of soldiers were killed and injured by chemical weapons.

☞ Use these primary sources to write a personal diary entry in your workbook from the point of view of an Australian soldier affected by mustard gas. Describe where you are and the effects of the gas on you and other soldiers.

Source 1

Gassed Australian soldiers lying out in the open at an over crowded aid post near Bois l'Abbé, 27 May 1918. Note on the source by Sergeant A. Brooksbank, Gas NCO, 10th Australian Infantry Brigade: "Examples of what should not be done. Casualties should have removed contaminated garments. Lying on the ground with contaminated clothes and not wearing respirators means that they are inhaling quantities of vapour and adding to their injuries". AWM E04851

Source 2

HOW VICTIMS OF POISON GAS SUFFER STABS OF PAIN

Everything but Fiery Agony is Blotted Out by the Torture Caused by Fumes

LUNGS SLOWLY FILL WITH WATERY SOLUTION THAT BRINGS

A Horrible Death by Suffocation.

Sunday Times Globe Pictorial (Sydney) p. 23, Sunday 1 August 1915

Source 3

Oct 2nd

... We had a bad time from moustard gas today & a number of us are affected in the throat & eyes. My throat is particularly bad at present. It has made many of us feel sick lately & some are sick. It is always lying about in the low country. We have to be careful not to walk near the places where the gas shells fall as it would eat your boots off your feet. You must not let it come in contact with the flesh. Same effect as the boots.

Source: Excerpt from the diary (16 October 1914 to 18 April 1918) of Lieutenant Louis Willyama Avery.
State Library of South Australia PRG 500/6 Avery diary transcript, Page 43 of 64

Source 4

Respirator - Small Box, Australian Imperial Force, Lieutenant Henry Allibon, World War I, 1917. Attribution required. Photographer: Rodney Start. Museums Victoria. https://collections.museumvictoria.com.au/items/373934

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

4 Teacher's notes – How the war was reported

Achieve!

Objectives

- Understand where people served and the conditions and nature of warfare during World War 1
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Evaluate the reliability and usefulness of primary sources

Prior knowledge

Students should have some knowledge of where Australians fought during World War 1 and an understanding of what war correspondents did during this time.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

War photographers (Resource sheet, p. 24)

On a map of Europe, students should locate Passchendaele, Marmara, Chanak, Gallipoli Peninsula.

Source analysis questions

- Compare the emotional intensity of the images.
- How does the composition and lighting contribute to the meaning and emotional intensity of each image?
- Source 1: Describe the environment the soldiers find themselves in. What might the soldiers be feeling and thinking?
- Source 2: Look at the body language of the soldiers. What do you think the soldiers are thinking and feeling?
- If you were a soldier in this image, what would you be able to see, hear and smell?

Composite images (Activity sheet, p. 26)
Source analysis questions

- How do you think soldiers felt about Frank Hurley's composite images? Would they approve of him creating fake scenes to get across the real experiences of war to a wider audience?
- What impact would Hurley's composite images have on the families of serving soldiers?

Truth and photography (Activity sheet, p. 27)
Source analysis questions

- What is shown in the photograph by Charles Bean?
- What is Bean trying to achieve by taking this photograph?
- What do you think Frank Hurley would have thought about Bean's photograph?

'Battle-scarred sentinels' (Activity sheet, p. 28)
Source analysis questions

- Compare the 'Battle-scarred sentinels' image of a soldier with other images of soldiers by Australian war artists at the same time. For example:
  – Will Dyson, Company awaiting relief, the Caterpillar, near Ville-sur-Ancre, ART02250.003
  – H. Septimus Power, Bringing up the guns, ART03334
  https://www.awm.gov.au/articles/encyclopedia/war_artists/ww1
- What does each artwork say about the human experience of war?
- What does each artwork say about the soldiers, as men?

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://encyclopedia.1914-1918-online.net/article/pressjournalism_australia

https://encyclopedia.1914-1918-online.net/article/filmcinema_australia

https://encyclopedia.1914-1918-online.net/article/bean_charles

Further reading

McGregor, A. Frank Hurley A Photographer's Life, National Library of Australia, 2019

Bean, C, Burgess, P (Editor). The Western Front Diaries of Charles Bean, University of New South Wales, 2018

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

War photographers

During World War 1, Australians Charles Bean and Frank Hurley were official war photographers.

Source 1

Australian Infantry wounded near Zonnebeke Railway Station, after the first battle of Passchendaele. Artist: Frank Hurley; Date: October 12, 1917, photograph. NLA

Source 2

'Wounded soldiers arrive at the 3rd Battalion dressing station in Shrapnel Gully, as more wounded come down the valley.' Turkey, Marmara, Chanak, Gallipoli Peninsula. Artist: Charles E.W. Bean. Date: 26 April 1915, photograph. AWM G00920

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Comparing photographs

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'War photographers', to complete the table. Include evidence from the sources to explain your answers.

	Primary source 1	Primary source 2
Who took this photograph?
When was the image created?
What can you see?
What parts of the image stand out the most to you?
What feeling or emotion best describes what you see in the image?
Who was this image made for? Where would it have been seen?
What do you think was the photographer's purpose in making this image? What was he trying to do?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Composite images

☞ 1 Use these words to complete the paragraph: Frank, gallery, photograph, real, trenches.

_____ Hurley created a small number of 'composite' photographs by printing several negatives in one photograph. All the parts of the photograph are _____, but they are layered together to create a picture of something that did not exist. The _____ below, 'A Raid', shows Australian soldiers charging out of _____. It was made for an exhibition in an art _____.

A Raid (known by other titles). Hurley, F. (1916). Belgium and France, 1917–1918. SLV H42507/7

2 Look carefully at 'A Raid'. Annotate the image to show parts that seem odd or not quite right and parts that might be joined together.

3 What impact might this picture have had on its audience?

_____

_____

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Truth and photography

☞ Use the Activity sheet, 'Composite images', to complete these activities.

Source 1

> Am thoroughly convinced that it is impossible to secure effects, without resorting to composite pictures.
>
> Source: Frank Hurley, 26 September 1917, NLA, MS883.

Frank Hurley said that it was not possible to show what war was really like in one single photograph.	Charles Bean described Hurley's composite images as 'fakes'. Bean took photographs of exactly what he saw.

1 Draw on this Charles Bean image to show what Frank Hurley might have added to create a composite image.

Source 2

Captain Richardson and Captain Bird, (with periscope,) 7th Light Horse Regiment, in the front line at Anzac in 1915-08. AWM J06251

2 Using examples, explain which photographer – Bean or Hurley – really showed what World War 1 was like. Think about what each man photographed and what he tried to show about war.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

'Battle-scarred sentinels'

☞ Read and complete the Activity sheet, 'Truth and photography'. Then answer these questions in your workbook.

This composite image by Frank Hurley shows a soldier beside some burnt tree trunks. The smoke from an explosion was included using a second negative. This image was shown by Hurley in a Sydney art gallery in 1921.

1 Describe what you think the soldier is doing.

2 Place your hand over the smoke. What is another idea to explain what the soldier might be doing? Look at the muddy ground he is walking on.

3 What feeling or idea does the smoke add to this photograph?

4 Would Charles Bean have liked this photograph? Does it show exactly what happened during World War 1? Explain your answer using examples.

5 Write a creative paragraph about this image from the point of view of the soldier in the photograph.

Deaths Highway*, an exposed road in the battlefield near Ypres, Belgium, 1917, NLA

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

5 Teacher's notes – Indigenous Australians at war

Achieve!

Objectives

- Consider the contribution and involvement of Indigenous Australians in World War 1
- Understand the impact of World War 1 on Indigenous Australians
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Think about information from a source that could be used as evidence in a historical argument

Prior knowledge

Students should have a strong understanding of how laws and social attitudes impacted on Australian Indigenous people at the time of World War 1.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

Private William Allan Irwin (Activity sheet, p. 30)

The actual number of Indigenous soldiers who fought in World War 1 continues to grow as greater research is devoted to finding out the stories of these men. Until quite recently, the contribution of these men has been ignored or forgotten. A detailed description of what led Private Irwin to enlist, based on his family's remembrances, is located here:
https://www.awm.gov.au/articles/blog/william-allan-irwin

Source analysis questions

- Why was this image created? What is its purpose?
- Look at the image of Private Irwin. How do you think his descendants would describe this man?

Irregularly enlisted (Resource sheet, p. 31)

Make sure students understand that 'half-caste' is an outdated historical term and now considered offensive. It is linked to the idea that people of different racial groups should not marry nor have children.

The celebration of Queen Victoria's birthday on 24 May was renamed Empire Day in 1903 after her death in 1901. Empire Day was first introduced to Australia in 1905 and it was a day to celebrate Australia's ties to Britain. The last Empire Day was held in 1958. Celebration activities included bonfires, fireworks and singing patriotic songs.

Source 1: Students should understand the meaning of these words and phrases as used in the context of the source: Empire day, recruiting rally, Federal authorities, half caste, waived, Chaplain, Lieut.-Colonel, settlement, batch, acquisition, Australian Imperial Force, drew up, stirring, address, Light Horsemen, Barambah (geographical location), pets, white Australia, oath, secured, characteristic.

Source analysis questions

- Think about the article's heading: 'Empty saddles filled'. What image does it build up in your mind?
- Find this quote in the source: yet here we had the spectacle of half-caste aboriginals going to reinforce our soldiers simply because those "things" who held up veranda posts would not do their duty.
  Who are the "things"?

Source 2: Students should understand the meaning of these words and phrases as used in the context of the source: discharged, A.I.F., slackers, allege, Chief Protector of Aborigines, discharge papers, police escort, coloured members, volunteered, full-blooded, blackfellow.

Source analysis questions

- What did the Indigenous men want?
- What treatment did they receive?
- What does this tell you about how they were seen by non-Indigenous people?

The boxing soldier (Resource sheet, p. 33)

Students should understand the meaning of these words and phrases as used in the context of the source: pneumonia, Dardanelles, Cairo, Indian mountain batteries, Turks, a 12-pounder, Achi Baba, Tommies.

Good enough to fight, but not good enough to vote (Activity sheet, p. 34)

Source analysis questions
Source 3

- What does this image tell you about the everyday lives of these Indigenous people?
- What can you tell about Tiny Ryan's life as a child?

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://www.awm.gov.au/articles/blog/william-allan-irwin

https://www.dva.gov.au/i-am/aboriginal-andor-torres-strait-islander/indigenous-australians-war

https://aiatsis.gov.au/collections/collections-online/digitised-collections/indigenous-australians-war

Further reading

Rees, P. The Missing Man: From the outback to Tarakan, the powerful story of Len Waters, Australia's first Aboriginal fighter pilot. Allen & Unwin, 2018.

Beaumont, J and Cadzow, A. (Ed) Serving Our Country Indigenous Australians, war, defence and citizenship NewSouth, Sydney, 2018.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Private William Allan Irwin

More than 1250 Indigenous Australian men served in World War 1. Over 50 fought in the Gallipoli campaign. Hundreds of Indigenous men were killed or wounded and more than thirty Indigenous men received medals for bravery.

Private William Allan Irwin

Born at the Burra Bee Dee Aboriginal Mission Station near Coonabarabran, New South Wales, the 37-year-old shearer enlisted in January 1916. He fought with the 33rd Australian Infantry Battalion. In 1918, after his death, Irwin was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal (DCM). His citation reads:

Source 1

Private William Allan Irwin, 1916, AWM 2017.995.1.1

Source 2 – Citation for Honour

No. 792, Private William Allan Irwin - "For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during the operations at Road Wood on August 31st 1918. Single-handed, and in the face of extremely heavy fire, Private Irwin rushed three separate Machine-gun posts and captured the three guns and crews. It was while on the point of rushing a fourth Machine-gun that he was severely wounded. On his irresistible dash and magnificent gallantry, this man materially assisted our advance through this strongly held and defended Wood, and by his daring actions he greatly inspired the whole of his Company."

Australian War Memorial Honours and awards list. Compiled from London and Commonwealth Gazettes. https://www.awm.gov.au/collection/R1583648

1 What three things did Private Irwin do to receive the Distinguished Conduct Medal?

- _____
- _____
- _____

2 Use the two sources to write your own description of Private Irwin.

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

© Blake Education 2020

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

Irregularly enlisted

EMPTY SADDLES FILLED.
UNIQUE SCENE AT RECRUITING RALLY.

There was a unique scene during the progress of the Empire Day recruiting rally at the Post Office yesterday. Until a week or two ago the Federal authorities had set their face against the enlistment of half-caste aboriginals, but now this condition has been waived. Following on this decision Chaplain Lieut.-Colonel Garland visited the aboriginal settlement at Barambah, where a number of half-castes promptly answered the call of the Empire. Yesterday a batch of 17 attended at the recruiting rally, without uniform. Shortly after 1 o'clock the members of this newest acquisition to the Australian Imperial Force marched down Queen-street and drew up at the Post Office steps. Here Chaplain Lieut Colonel Garland delivered a stirring address to the thousands who had assembled, and during his address a long line of Light Horsemen, each soldier leading a horse with an empty saddle, trotted down Queen-street past the recruiting base. Chaplain Garland referred to his visit to Barambah, and expressed the opinion that very soon there would not be half a dozen eligible half-caste aboriginals left at Barambah. (Applause.) He felt sure that they would be welcomed as brothers and quickly made the pets of the unit to which they were attached. A lot was said about a white Australia, yet here we had the spectacle of half-caste aboriginals going to reinforce our soldiers simply because those "things" who held up veranda posts would not do their duty. He believed that Australia was worth fighting for, but he was beginning to believe that there were people in Australia who were not worth fighting for. It made his heart bleed to see the married men, the men over 45 years of age, the men growing old and the men with three, five, and seven children having to come forward simply because the young, un-married men would not do their duty.

Amid a scene of great enthusiasm, Chaplain Lieutenant-Colonel Garland gave the oath to a half-caste from Barambah, bringing the total recruits secured from that centre to 17. The Light Horsemen then rode up, and amid considerable cheering the new recruits each mounted a riderless horse and proceeded up Queen-street, riding with the ease so characteristic of the Australian aboriginal.

Source 1: The Brisbane Courier, p7 Friday 25 May 1917 https://trove.nla.gov.au/newspaper/article/20142091

ABORIGINAL RECRUITS.

We have received from Barambah Settlement a letter written on behalf of 16 discharged coloured soldiers who want to know why they were discharged from the A.I.F. on June 13. They resent being made to appear as "slackers," through no fault of their own. And they allege that when they were discharged from the military camp they were told that they would be met at the Central Railway Station by the Chief Protector of Aborigines, who would hand over to them their pay and discharge papers. Instead they were at the station handed over to a police escort, and were brought back to their settlement "like a lot of prisoners." The letter concludes: "We will ask the public of Brisbane and Murgon if us coloured members of the Empire who risked our lives and volunteered for the freedom and liberty of the British Empire got a fair do or not. Also we never got our pay or discharge papers."

The military authorities explain that headquarters at Melbourne only gave approval for coloured men to be enlisted on condition that one of the parents was of European origin. That condition was later on qualified to the effect that a coloured man must have been associated with white people for some time prior to enlistment. The men rejected were stated by the military authorities to be full-blooded aboriginals. When they arrived at the camp they were specially examined by a medical officer, and were subsequently removed from the camp as unfit for military duties. They were not half-castes, and the military authorities state that full-blooded aboriginals are not wanted, as they will not make soldiers. The instructions issued to headquarters at Brisbane state that half-castes can be enlisted at the discretion of the commandant. It was pointed out that white men have an objection to a "blackfellow" being associated with them at the camp.

Source 2: The Brisbane Courier, p 7 Wednesday June 20 1917. https://trove.nla.gov.au/newspaper/article/20172809

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Harry Blake

Indigenous men could only enlist if they were believed to have some white European heritage and had spent time with white people. Recruit Harry Blake is one of the men in Source 2, 'Aboriginal recruits', who enlisted and was then later discharged because he was said to be 'irregularly enlisted'.

Recruit Harry Blake. John Oxley Library, State Library of Queensland Neg or Image No: 702692-19170728-s0026-0067. http://hdl.handle.net/10462/deriv/315770

☞ Use the primary sources on the Resource sheet, 'Irregularly enlisted', to answer the questions.

Source 1 – 'Empty saddles filled'

1 In Source 1, underline the parts of the text that describe the Indigenous recruits. What do they tell you about attitudes towards Indigenous people at this time in Australian history?

2 Write one fact reported in this newspaper column. How do you know it is a fact and not an opinion?

3 Summarise one opinion expressed by the writer of the newspaper column.

Source 2 – 'Aboriginal Recruits'

4 What did the Indigenous men want?

5 How do you think the Indigenous men felt when they were discharged? Explain your answer.

Assessing the reliability of sources

6 Describe how reliable you think these two newspaper columns are as sources of information about common attitudes towards Indigenous men and how they were treated at this time.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

The boxing soldier

Source 1: Alfred 'Tiny' Ryan

Occupation: Shearer
Address: Mungery Road, via Lemingly, Dubbo, New South Wales
Enlistment date: 29 January 1915

Source 2

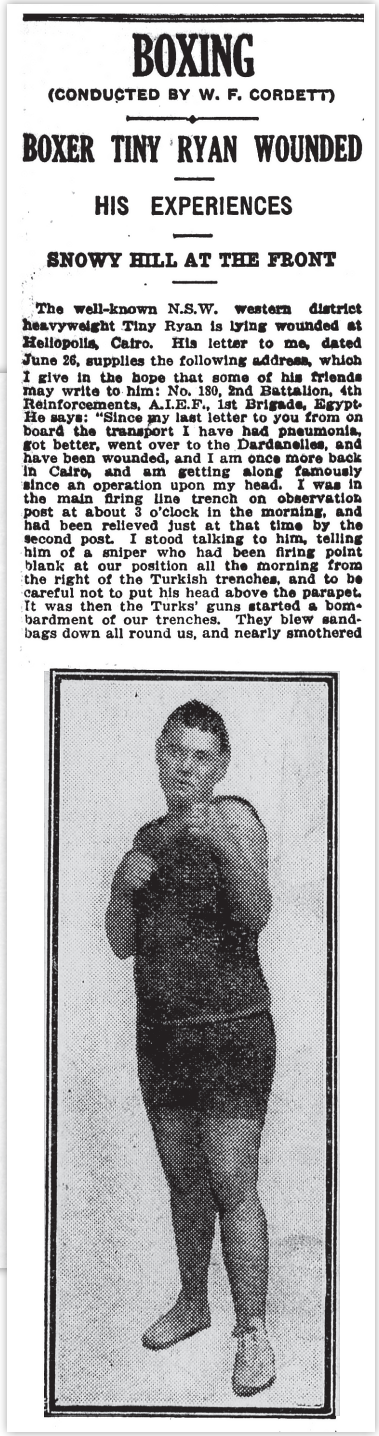
The Sun, Sydney, page 14, Sunday 15 August, 1915
Excerpts from the newspaper column written by W.F. Cordett.

The well-known N.S.W. western district heavyweight Tiny Ryan is lying wounded at Heliopolis, Cairo. His letter to me, dated June 26, supplies the following address, which I give in the hope that some of his friends may write to him: No. 1802, 2nd Battalion, 4th Reinforcements, A.I.E.F., 1st Brigade, Egypt-
He says:

Since my last letter to you from on board the transport I have had pneumonia, got better, went over to the Dardanelles, and have been wounded, and I am once more back in Cairo, and am getting along famously since an operation upon my head.

... These bombs make a very powerful explosion. We have Indian mountain batteries with us, and the Indians give the Turks some hurry up when they send a 12-pounder in among them. Things are fairly quiet in the Australian trenches at the time of writing, but at Achi Baba, where the Tommies and French are, there is always something doing.

... I saw the Triumph sink just below our trenches. It was torpedoed by a submarine. The Queen Elizabeth is a big ship, and when she lets go you can bet your life there is something doing.



BOXING

(CONDUCTED BY W. F. CORDETT)

BOXER TINY RYAN WOUNDED

HIS EXPERIENCES

SNOWY HILL AT THE FRONT

The well-known N.S.W. western district heavyweight Tiny Ryan is lying wounded at Heliopolis, Cairo. His letter to me, dated June 26, supplies the following address, which I give in the hope that some of his friends may write to him: No. 180, 2nd Battalion, 4th Reinforcements, A.I.E.F., 1st Brigade, Egypt. He says: "Since my last letter to you from on board the transport I have had pneumonia, got better, went over to the Dardanelles, and have been wounded, and I am once more back in Cairo, and am getting along famously since an operation upon my head. I was in the main firing line trench on observation post at about 3 o'clock in the morning, and had been relieved just at that time by the second post. I stood talking to him, telling him of a sniper who had been firing point blank at our position all the morning from the right of the Turkish trenches, and to be careful not to put his head above the parapet. It was then the Turks' guns started a bombardment of our trenches. They blew sandbags down all round us, and nearly smothered

Source 3

Aboriginal Natives of Australia, The Bogan River Tribe 1898, The child Alfred Ryan is seated on the log. © Bert Morris. Bert's grandfather took the original image.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Good enough to fight, but not good enough to vote

During World War 1, Indigenous Australians were unable to vote. Laws controlled where they lived and worked and who they married. Indigenous Australians fought for their country, but as a group they did not gain full voting rights until the 1960s and were not counted in the Census until 1967.

☞ Use the three sources on the Resource sheet, 'The boxing soldier', to complete the activity.

Imagine you are Private Alfred Ryan. Read the three sources again. Then write a letter reflecting on your life, from growing up in rural New South Wales in 1898 to lying in the hospital in Cairo in 1915.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

6 Teacher's notes – Conscription

Achieve!

Objectives

- Understand the arguments in the conscription debates during World War 1
- Examine the role of women in the conscription debate
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Think about information from a source that could be used as evidence in a historical argument
- Identify and analyse the perspectives of people from the past
- Identify and analyse different historical interpretations

Prior knowledge

Students should understand the main ideas and opinions that contributed to the conscription debates during World War 1.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

The argument for 'Yes' (Resource sheet, p. 36)

Source 1

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: sanctity, anti-person.

Source analysis questions

- In the original image, the woman's clothing, the soldier and all the background behind the soldier is coloured orange. How does this choice of colour create meaning in the image?
- How does the size of the soldier help to create meaning in this image?

Source 2

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: Dinkums, referendum, unencumbered.

Source analysis questions

- Why does the writer use the phrase 'stretch out the helping hand'? What image or idea does it create?
- According to this text, who do you think 'true Australians!' are?

Source 3

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: dogged determination, electors, affirmative, reinforcements, cold-blooded, condemnation.

Source analysis questions

- Explain how phrases such as 'how desperately those boys', 'deliberate, cold-blooded desertion' and 'deliberate condemnation to death' are used to persuade the reader to agree with the writer's opinion.

The argument for 'No' (Resource sheet, p. 37)

Source analysis questions

Source 4

- Describe how the man is sitting and what he is wearing. What type of person is he?
- What object is the most important in this image?
- Could this image be understood if it didn't have any words?

Source 5

- If this image didn't have any text, where might you see it? What would it mean?
- How do you think women felt about the use of feminine imagery in conscription debate arguments?

The power of words – YES! and The power of words –NO! (Activity sheets p. 39, p. 40)

Encourage students to think about what the words say as well as how they are drawn; for example, how the words are capitalised and the thickness or boldness of the lettering.

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://billyhughes.moadoph.gov.au/conscription_debate

https://www.awm.gov.au/learn/schools/resources/sources/conscription

http://ergo.slv.vic.gov.au/explore-history/australia-wwii/home-wii/conscription-debate

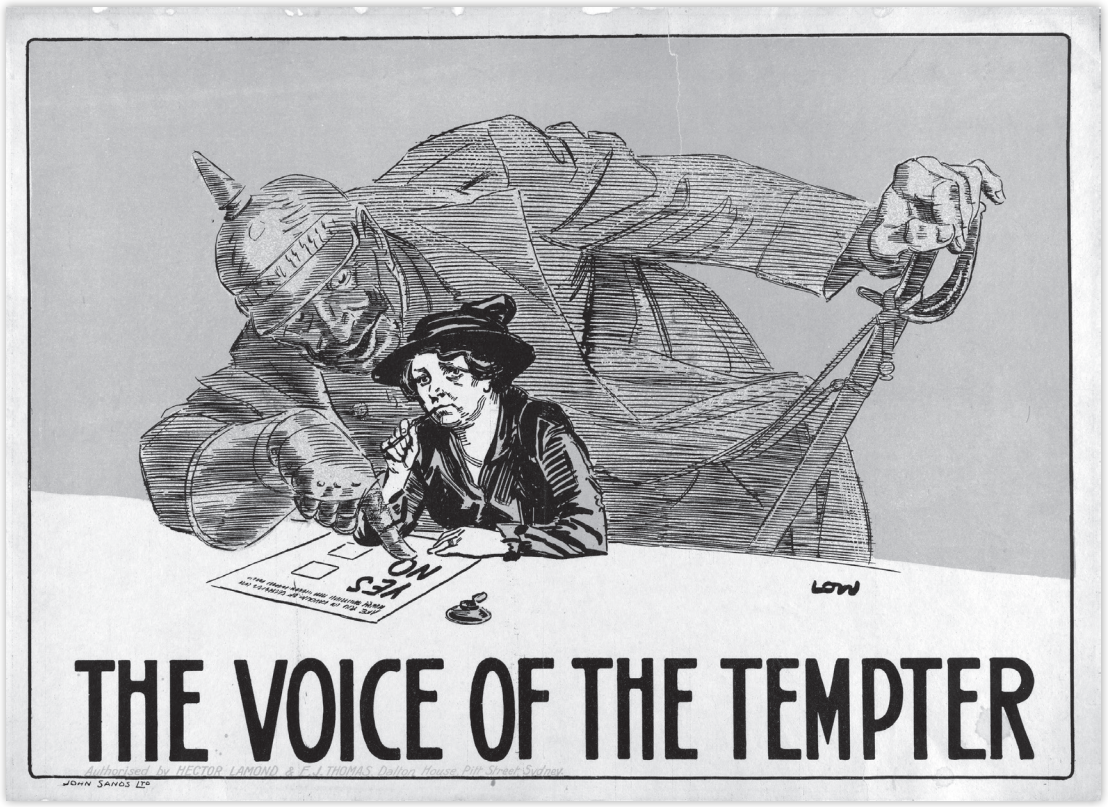
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

The argument for 'Yes'

Source 1

Poster, David Low
c. 1916-17
AWM ARTV10140



Source 2

THE DINKUMS' REFERENDUM CAMPAIGN.

"Our only concern is that the mates we have left behind in the trenches shall be given the help they need. We know only too well how badly they require that help. Will you allow your thousands of unmarried, unencumbered men to continue to live at ease under the sheltering wings of the British fleet and listen to your sons and brothers on the battlefield appealing to you night and day for help? Will you allow these things to go on and refuse to stretch out the helping hand? Not if you are true Australians!"

F. P. J. KILLEEN.

'The Dinkums' Referendum Campaign' F.P.J Killeen. Sydney Mail (NSW: 1912-1938), Wednesday 12 December 1917, page 38
https://trove.nla.gov.au/newspaper/article/160629509

Source 3

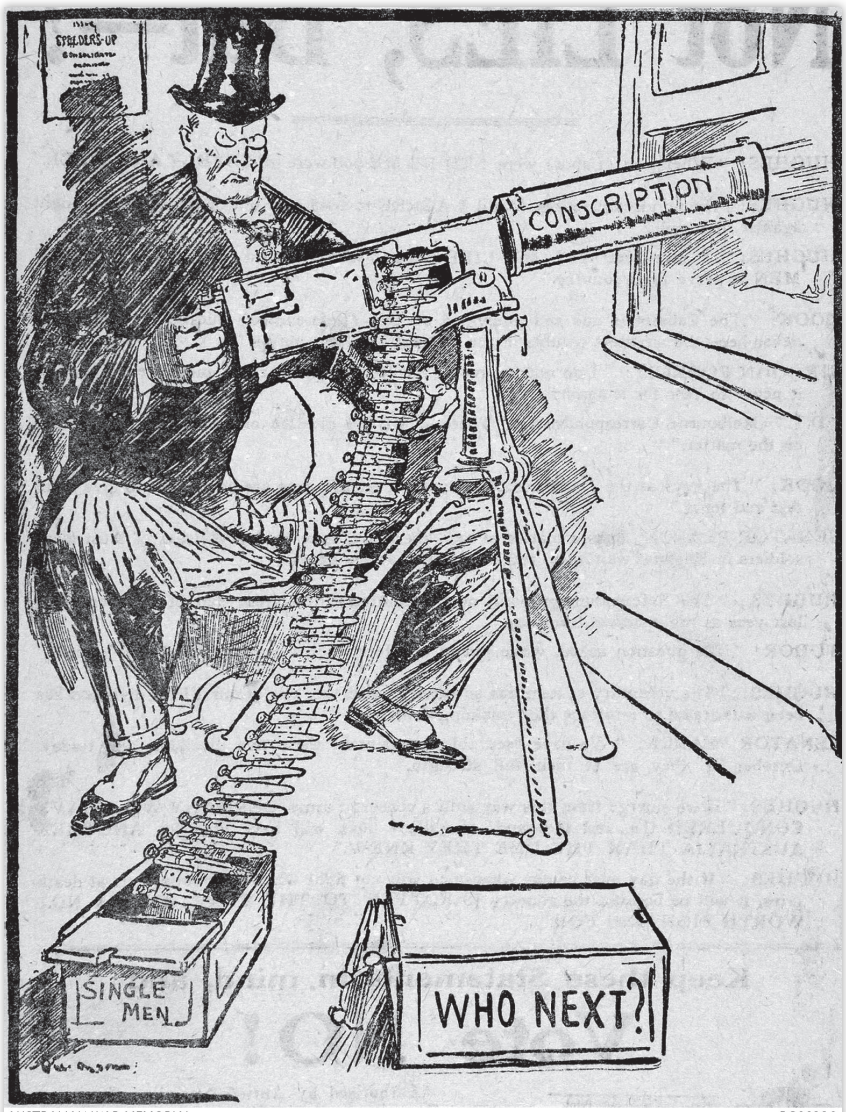
CAPTAIN ARTHUR SEAFORTH BLACKBURN, who won the Victoria Cross for an action in which, at the head of 50 men, be directed a drive against an enemy strong point with dogged determination, and eventually captured a trench, writes: -- 'From the bottom of my heart I pray the electors of Australia to register an affirmative vote on December 20 next. No person with any sense of justice or truth can deny that voluntary recruiting has failed to keep up a proper supply of reinforcements for our boys at the front. I know how desperately those boys are in need of help. I know that the fate of those boys -- aye, their very lives -- depends upon whether Australia will send them help, and so I say to the people of Australia that, voluntaryism having failed to keep up the supply of reinforcements, every 'No' vote cast on December 20 is a deliberate, cold-blooded desertion of the men in the trenches: nay, more, it is a deliberate condemnation to death of the men in the trenches.

'Voice from the trenches' Sydney Mail (NSW: 1912-1938), Wednesday 12 December 1917, page 38

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

The argument for 'No'



AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL RC00339

Source 4

Single Men, Conscription (Gun). Who next?' 2/1/1 Folder 3. AWM C964521

Source 5

Australian Labor Party, Anti-Conscription Campaign Committee, "Vote no mum, they'll take Dad next" 1917. NLA

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

The power of images

Image detail (refer to pages 36 and 37 for full image)	Who or what does the image represent?	How does the way the image is drawn create meaning?
	All Australian women of voting age. Perhaps she has a son at war or at home.	The woman's face and the pencil in her mouth suggest she is thinking deeply about the vote. It is an important decision.

© Blake Education 2020
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

Achieve!

The power of words – YES!

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'The argument for 'Yes''.
Read the excerpts and the sample answers in the table below.
Then answer the remaining questions.

'… the mates we have left behind in the trenches …'	1 Describe how the underlined word is used to create an idea, opinion, image or effect on the audience. The writer uses 'mates' to make the reader think of the soldiers as close friends that should be supported. 2 Who would the excerpt be convincing for? Why? People value mates and friends so the writer appeals to the reader's sense of what is the right way to treat a good friend. This might appeal to young men who have friends that they care about.
' … the sheltering wings of the British fleet …'	3 Describe how the underlined words are used to create an idea, opinion, image or effect on the audience. 4 Who would the excerpt be convincing for? Why?
'… a deliberate, cold-blooded desertion of the men in the trenches …'	5 Describe how the underlined words are used to create an idea, opinion, image or effect on the audience. 6 Who would the excerpt be convincing for? Why?
The voice of the tempter	7 Describe how the word 'tempter' is used to create an idea, opinion, image or effect on the audience. 8 Who would the words be convincing for? Why?

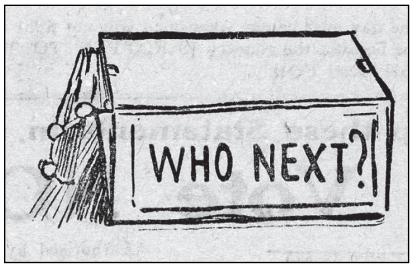
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

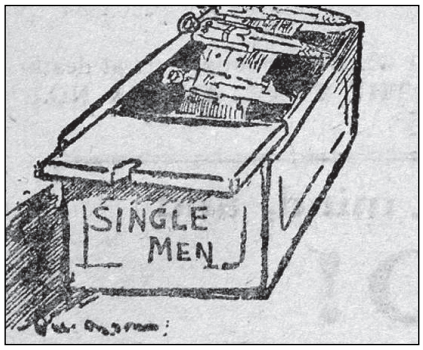
The power of words – NO!

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'The argument for 'No''. Read the excerpts in the table below. Then answer the questions for each excerpt.



1 Describe how the words in the image are used to create an idea, opinion, image or effect on the audience.

2 Who would the excerpt be convincing for? Why?



3 Describe how the words in the image are used to create an idea, opinion, image or effect on the audience.

4 Who would the excerpt be convincing for? Why?

5 Describe how the words in the image are used to create an idea, opinion, image or effect on the audience.

6 Who would the excerpt be convincing for? Why?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

7 Teacher's notes – The impact of war on women and families

Achieve!

Objectives

- Explore the impact of World War 1 on women and children
- Analyse the changing role of women due to World War 1
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Think about information from a source that could be used as evidence in a historical argument
- Identify and analyse the perspectives of people from the past

Prior knowledge

Students should have a basic understanding that women and children were socially and economically impacted by World War 1.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

'An Australian Girl at War Work' (Resource sheet p. 42)

Working-class women have always been involved in the paid workforce in factories and farms, as well as domestic servants. Middle-class women generally worked in a limited range of professions such as education and nursing. It was not till the 1960–70s that women of all classes worked.

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: a miserable dreary hole, munition work, Women's Land Army, few shillings pocket money, You would hardly credit me, pommy girls, shack, Fritzs, distinction marks, breeches, Zeppelin.

Source analysis questions

- Think about the terms the writer uses to describe other groups of people – pommy and Fritzs. How does the use of these terms affect the tone of the text?
- How do you think the writer feels about the things she has done and achieved?

Voluntary work (Activity sheet, p. 44)
Source analysis questions

- Why do you think this photograph was taken?
- Do you think the women enjoy this work? Would this type of work be fulfilling for women who would not normally have a job?

Analysing a photograph (Activity sheet, p. 45)

Answers to the 'Looking closer' question could include: What might the women be packing?, Why are they wearing clean, white uniforms like nurses?, Why is the woman with the hammer wearing a striped armband?

The impact on children (Activity sheet, p. 46)

The young children in the image might have been roughly five and six by the time Private Geddes returned to Australia. It is assumed that he is the father of the two children.

Source analysis questions

- How do you think Private Geddes feels in this photograph?
- Describe what would be different and what would be the same in a photograph taken of a modern soldier before they went to work.
- Printed photographic services were expensive at the time the Geddes image was taken. Who would have been the audience for this image?

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://www.awm.gov.au/articles/encyclopedia/redcross/redcross_bothwars

https://sjmc.gov.au/how-children-experienced-the-war

https://guides.slsa.sa.gov.au/children_WW1

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

'An Australian Girl at War Work'

Many young Australian women were keen to contribute to the war effort. Some, including female doctors and nurses, even paid their own travel costs to Europe to take up paid and voluntary jobs. This newspaper article describes an experience that was not common for Australian women at this time in history.

An Australian Girl
AT WAR WORK.

Writing from Plumstead, London, an ex-Westralian girl says. It is lovely to get W.A. news. There is no place like Westralia, and if any of the returning boys boom England or English girls just wait till I come back. England is a very pretty country for six months in the year but it is a miserable dreary hole in the winter. Summer is just over and there is every promise of another hard winter for there is a great shortage of coal.

I got very tired of munition work for I simply could not stick to it. Miners shifts were nothing to ours as we had to do a fortnight of 12 hours each night. I was dying to get some fresh air. Factory life is simply beastly. I joined the Women's Land Army. I was brought up on a farm so I was quite an experienced hand. We work under the Government and have our uniform and food supplied besides just a few shillings pocket money: I am on a farm at Middlesex, only about half an hour train's journey from London. It is a big dairy farm, 80 cows to milk. You would hardly credit me milking 15 cows twice a day, driving big old farm horses, in various machines, shearing and dipping sheep etc., but I can assure you that I do all these things and get on twice as well as the pommy girls. I and another and army girl sleep in a little cottage, a shack they call it and have our meals at the farmer's house. Besides ourselves there are four German or rather Polish prisoners and an American sailor boy. The farmer and his family also work on the farm. We are never put on a job with the Fritzs. They can't speak much English and have distinction marks, big red patches, all over their clothes. There was a big empty house on the farm and the Government took this for German prisoners, who were to be hired out for farm work. There are about 50 of them there so we have old Fritz right under our noses, They don't have much of a time but I would be satisfied if I thought my brother (prisoner of war in Germany) was no worse off.

I am trying to have a photo taken in my land army clothes ; you know we wear breeches, leggings, big hobnailed boots and a white smock which comes just over our knees. I have not had a skirt on for nearly five months and even go to the London theatre in breeches. We excite much attention and the kiddies whisper 'Look mother! There's a war girl.'

We have not had an air raid for a long time. We are just near the spot where the first Zeppelin was brought down and where I saw my first raid. We used to have some stirring times last year but they didn't frighten me. I only felt mad because I could not get enough sleep. I am trying to get an office job for the winter as I could not stand the cold with frost and snow all about. Everything gets frozen.

Source: Bunbury Herald, Western Australia, Saturday 30 November 1918, page 5

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Understanding a newspaper article

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'An Australian Girl at War Work', to answer the following questions. Include examples or quotes to support your ideas.

Literal questions – the answers are written in the text.

1 Where did this young woman come from? Where was she living overseas?

2 What types of work did she do in England?

Inferential questions – the answers are not included in the text. Think about what is said in the article and what you already know about the topic.

3 Why do you think this young woman volunteered for war work?

4 How do you think she felt about wearing trousers, and about the comments people made about her work clothes?

Evaluative questions – use the text and your understanding of this time period to give your opinion.

5 How important were women's contributions to the war effort?

6 Do you think stories of women working changed the social attitudes to middle-class women working after this war? Give reasons or examples to support your answer.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Voluntary work

Word bank
- cans
- cooking
- home
- missing
- puddings
- Red
- soldiers
- World

☞ 1 Use the word list to complete these paragraphs.

The First _____ War provided many women with voluntary and paid work opportunities outside the _____ that did not normally exist. Even when they did not have children, women were normally expected to work in their family home, _____ and cleaning for their husband and family.

Groups like the Australian _____ Cross, the Cheer-up Society and Australian Comforts Fund were run by women and helped support the _____ with food and clothing supplies, commonly called 'comforts'. The Red Cross assisted families with information about prisoners of war and _____ and wounded soldiers.

Comforts included: tobacco, cakes, _____, condensed milk, sugar, biscuits, newspapers, letters, magazines and clothing, like socks. Sometimes these goods were packed into strong metal billy cans. The billy _____ protected the goods and were later used by the soldiers for making hot tea.

Sydney, NSW. c. 1916. Four women members of the Australian Red Cross packing comforts to be sent to servicemen overseas. AWM H11579

2 Why was it acceptable for women to do voluntary work outside the home during World War 1? Think about the hours worked, the role of men at this time as the 'breadwinner' of the family, and the need to show support for soldiers overseas.

_____

_____

_____

_____

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Analysing a photograph

☞ Examine the photograph on the Activity sheet, 'Voluntary work'.
Then read the Inquiry question and answer the questions in the table.

Inquiry question: What is the story of the photograph, 'Four women members of the Australian Red Cross packing comforts to be sent to servicemen overseas'?

Source Who probably created this source and what is its purpose?
Context What else was happening when this source was created? (e.g. political events, events in the war)
Description What is the most interesting thing about this source?
Looking closer What can't you explain in this source?
Thinking about the creator Who do you think was the audience of this source? Why?
Inquiry question What information from the source helps you answer the inquiry question?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

The impact on children

Many young children grew up not really knowing their fathers and other male family members because they were overseas at war. Older children contributed to the war effort by collecting metals to be recycled for the war effort, or making things like socks for the soldiers.

This is a studio portrait of 37-year-old Private David Geddes of Collingwood, Victoria. He is pictured with two young children. Private Geddes left Melbourne on HMAT Ulysses on 10 May 1915 and returned to Australia on 28 March 1919.

Object type: Black & white - Glass original half plate negative. Maker: Darge Photographic Company. Place made: Broadmeadows, Victoria. Date made: 21 May 1915. Darge Photographic Company collection of negatives. AWM DA08700

☞ 1 Describe what is behind the people in the photograph.

_____

2 What else do you see in the photograph?

_____

3 What do you think the relationship is between Private Geddes and the children? Use evidence to support your answer.

_____

4 Why do you think this photograph was taken?

_____

5 Estimate how old the children would have been when their father returned. _____

_____

6 Imagine you are one of these children. In three sentences, describe how the war impacts on your life.

_____

_____

_____

© Blake Education 2020
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

8 Teacher's notes – The impact of war on men

Achieve!

Objectives

- Examine the impact of World War 1 on the male population of Australia
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Think about information from a source that could be used as evidence in a historical argument
- Evaluate the reliability and usefulness of primary sources

Prior knowledge

Students should have a basic understanding of the numbers of men who fought and returned from war.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

The male population (Resource sheet, p. 48)

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: Dominion, British Iles, colonies, discharge, AIF, gassing, shell shock.

Source analysis questions

- Official statistics acknowledged that 331,000 soldiers were affected by WW1. Recently, historians reviewed this number to more like 750,000. What changes in our understanding of disability and illness might have happened since the official statistics were recorded? Consider PTSD (post traumatic stress disorder) and other mental illnesses resulting from war, and illnesses that took longer to show symptoms. Would the original figure include intergenerational trauma and the Spanish influenza pandemic of 1918?
- What would it have been like to suffer an illness or disability caused by your war service if it were not recognised by the Commonwealth government for a pension, nor recognised by society or maybe even your friends and family?
- How would these people have coped, financially and emotionally?
- If there were over 400,000 returned service people whose illnesses and disabilities were not publicly acknowledged or assisted, how might this affect the wider community?
  Note: this is a sensitive question to discuss with students. Possible impacts include alcoholism or other substance abuse, loss of productivity, premature death and suicide, and children and partners experiencing trauma, depression and anxiety.

Welcome home (Activity sheet, p. 50)
Source analysis questions

- What different emotions might the people in this group be feeling?
- Choose one person in the photograph. What do you think they would be thinking and feeling?

A lost generation (Activity sheet, p. 51)
Source analysis questions

- This photograph shows soldiers being cared for in a hostel based in a city. What do you think hospitals for returned soldiers and nurses were like in different parts of the country? For instance, in rural or remote parts of Australia?

Returning to work (Activity sheet, p. 52)
Source analysis questions

- What type of heating does this room have?
- What sort of work were these people being trained for?

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

http://www.ausstats.abs.gov.au/ausstats/free.nsf/0/9AB9AB48F49F60BECA25763800188986/$File/31410_No32_1914.pdf

http://ergo.slv.vic.gov.au/explore-history/australia-wwi/abroad-wwi/returning-soldiers

https://www.abc.net.au/radionational/programs/archived/hindsight/the-history-of-forgetting/5744242

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

The male population

During World War 1, 416,809 Australian men enlisted for service. Over 60,000 men died before they were discharged from duty. Others returned injured or disabled, and many probably died earlier than they would have if they hadn't fought in the war.

Source 1

Table 5.1: The British Empire's military effort: British, Dominion and colonial troops

	Total troops	Approximate total killed or died of wounds	Troops as % of the total troops	Deaths as % of total empire dead	Deaths as % of national troops
British Iles	5 704 416	662 083	66.4	77.8	11.6
Canada	628 964	56 119	7.3	6.6	8.9
Australia	412 953	58 460	4.8	6.9	14.2
New Zealand	128 525	16 132	1.5	1.9	12.6
South Africa	136 070	6 928	1.6	0.8	5.1
India	1 440 437	47 746	16.8	5.6	3.3
Other colonies	134 837	3 649	1.6	0.4	2.7
Total	8 588 202	851 117	100	100	n/a

Statistics of the Military Efforts of the British Empire During the Great War 1914-1920 (first published London: War Office, 1920; London: Stamp Exchange, 1992, p. 756

Source 2

At end of war

Outcome	Number affected [1]
Died before discharge from the AIF	60 284
Wounded in action (including gassing and shell shock)	155 133
Prisoners of war	4 044
Suffered from sickness or non-battle injuries	431 448

Sources:

1 A.G. Butler, Special problems and services: the official history of the Australian Army Medical Services in the war of 1914-1918, vol. III (Canberra: Australian War Memorial, 1942.p.896-97).

https://www.awm.gov.au/articles/encyclopedia/enlistment/ww1#year

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020

Reading the data

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'The male population', to answer the questions.

Literal questions – the answers are written in the tables.

Source 1

1 Which two countries had the most troops fight in World War 1?

_____

2 Which two countries had the most troops killed or die of wounds?

_____

3 Which two countries had the highest number of deaths as a percentage of National Troops?

_____

Source 2

4 How many soldiers were gassed or suffered shell shock?

_____

5 How many prisoners of war were there?

_____

Inferential questions – the answers are not written in the tables. Think about the data and what you already know about the topic to help you answer these questions.

6 What illnesses or diseases might 'sickness or non-battle injuries' describe?

_____

_____

_____

7 How many people is 416,809? Think of a sports arena, city or something else to compare this number to. What does this comparison make you think about or feel?

_____

_____

_____

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Welcome home

Sapper Arthur Findon Dunbar was 30 years old when he enlisted in late 1915.
He returned home to South Australia on 26 June 1919.

Sappers (engineers) assist armies by building things like tunnels, trenches and railways.

Group portrait of 540 Sapper Arthur Findon Dunbar MM, 2nd Australian Tunnelling Company, July - August 1919, Adelaide, South Australia, AWM P05328.001

Sapper Dunbar was awarded the Military Medal:

Sapper Dunbar removed several dangerous booby traps from dugouts and assisted in the capture of many prisoners. He also detected and removed a large number of road mines. The whole of the day he worked under heavy shell and machine gun fire, during which 50% of his party became casualities.

Source: Australian War Memorial Honours and awards list. Compiled from London and Commonwealth Gazettes. https://www.awm.gov.au/collection/R1606269

☞ 1 Look closely at the photo. Circle Sapper Dunbar, the man in uniform. Label the picture to show who you think the other people could be; for example, mother or nephew.

2 What type of people might be missing from the photo? Explain your answer.

_____

_____

3 Who might have taken this photograph?

_____

4 Who might be its main audience?

_____

5 Why do you think it was taken?

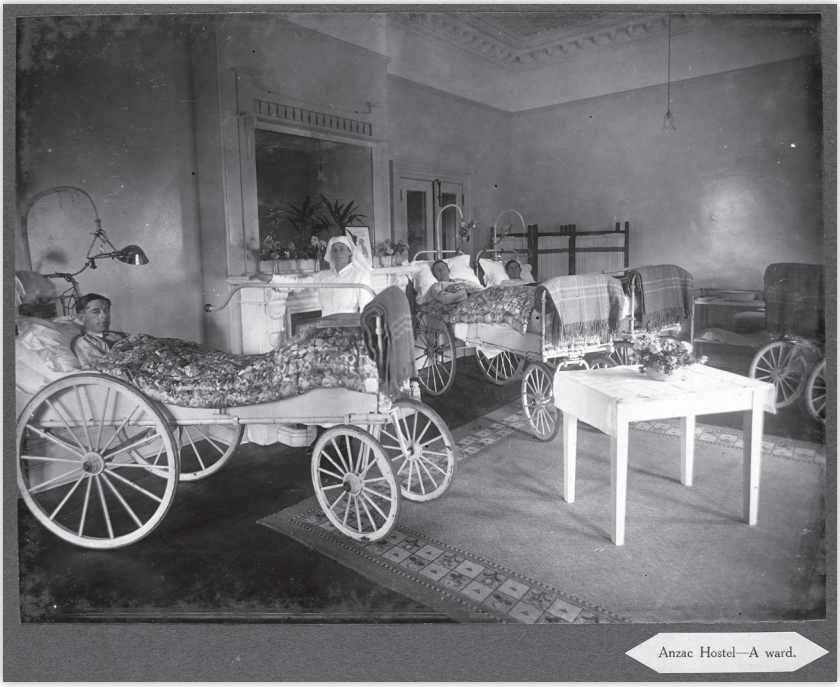
_____

© Blake Education 2020
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

Achieve!

A lost generation

Thousands of men who returned from the war were badly wounded or in poor health. Some never recovered enough to return to an active life and full-time work. Some young men lived in privately funded accomodation, like Anzac Hostel in Brighton, Victoria.



State Library of Victoria, Australia. Department of Repatriation, compiler. (1919). Anzac Hostel., In collection: "After" - The Digger carries on.

State Library of Victoria. Australia. Department of Repatriation, compiler. (1919). Anzac Hostel., In collection: "After" - The Digger carries on.

1 What does the style and shape of the building suggest about how these returned soldiers were viewed and treated by society?

2 Are these photographs reliable sources of information about the way all returned soldiers were treated after the war? Explain your answer.

3 What other evidence (e.g. documents and photographs) would you need to help you fully understand how all returned soldiers were treated after World War 1?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Returning to work

Australia was experiencing high unemployment rates when soldiers returned home after World War 1. Government-funded vocational training helped men to retrain or upgrade their work skills. The wives of soldiers who had died or could not return to work were also allowed to complete this training.

State Library of Victoria, Australia. Vocational Training - Stenotyping - Soldiers and Dependants., Australia. Department of Repatriation, compiler. (1919). "After" - The Digger carries on.

☞ 1 What do you see?
How are the people and objects arranged? What is the setting? What is unusual or interesting?

2 Reflect on what you see.
Why was this image made? If it was taken today, what would be the same and different?

3 Question what you see.
Write two questions about this image. Start each question with a question word: Who? What? When? Where? Why? How?

•

•

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

9 Teacher's notes – The economy and society

Achieve!

Objectives

- Understand the impact of World War 1 on the Australian economy and society
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Think about information from a source that could be used as evidence in a historical argument
- Identify and analyse the perspectives of people from the past
- Identify and analyse different historical interpretations

Prior knowledge

Students should have an understanding of what the Paris Peace Conference was, and the Conscription debate.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

The Digger's idol (Resource sheet, p. 54)

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: Paris Peace Conference, conscription, tremendous, orations.

Source analysis questions

- Imagine you are one of the thousands of people who surrounded Prime Minister Hughes. Who is around you? What can you see and hear?
- Imagine this scene today if an Australian Prime Minister paraded down a main street. What would be similar to and different from the Hughes image? What could be the reason for parading in this way?

War pensions (Resoure sheet, p. 56)

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: allowances, Widowed, Incapacitated, deceased, deserted, discharge, attendant, subsequent, beneficiaries.

Source analysis questions

- Why might eye injury rates be so high? (Possibly the use of mustard gas)
- This data is from 1933. Would the number of payments be higher or lower in 1920 and 1925?

Soldier settlements (Activity sheet, p. 58)
Source analysis questions

- Where is Red Cliffs in Victoria?
- Identify another feature from the photograph and explain what it tells you about life on the farm.

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://billyhughes.moadoph.gov.au/conscription

https://www.nma.gov.au/explore/features/prime-ministers/billy-hughes

http://guides.naa.gov.au/records-about-south-australia/chapter6/veterans-wwi.aspx https://prov.vic.gov.au/explore-collection/provenance-journal/provenance-2015/families-world-war-i-veterans

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

The Digger's idol

Prime Minister Billy Hughes returned to Australia in September 1919 after being very involved in the outcomes of the Paris Peace Conference. Many returned soldiers celebrated his achievements at the conference, even though Hughes supported conscription during World War 1.

MR. HUGHES' TREMENDOUS RECEPTION

THE DIGGERS' IDOL

Great Scenes of Enthusiasm Yesterday
An Escort of 10,000

MR. HUGHES' STIRRING ORATIONS

Mr. Hughes has been hailed as the Diggers' Friend. Some people may cavil at the title, but the diggers themselves plainly have no doubts about the fitness of it. They regard the Prime Minister as peculiarly their own man. They have absolute faith in him. They believe that he is going to save them and Australia from all the things they hate most. They are confident that their own interests are safe in his hands.

The Diggers' Welcome

It was fitting, therefore, that the arrangements for the reception of Mr. Hughes at the railway station yesterday morning should be left in the hands of the Returned Soldiers and Sailors' Imperial League. It was inevitable that it should be so in any case. The diggers had decided that they were going to meet Billy first, and that settled it. On that they went to work. The arrangements were mostly informal. There was no preliminary parade of men, and no man attended under compulsion. The digger could go and meet Billy, or he could stay away; the matter was one for his own choice—and he went to meet Billy. He splashed all the streets with khaki long before the train was timed to arrive. He flooded the approaches to the station with khaki that became a big pool of khaki about the platforms. And every man in khaki was in high delight because Billy was about to arrive. We think he's the only man in Federal politics who matters a damn," said one young officer of Anzacs. "Billy's a bobster bloke, and he's one of us," said a digger with no pretensions to social form. These opinions were characteristic of the whole. If Mr. Hughes Holman is tied up at the Nationalists' Conference, but there are present Sir George Fuller, Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald, and Mr. David Storey, representing the State Government; Major Shillington, M.L.A., president of the Manly branch of the R.S.L.; Mr. Grondona and Mr. Carsewell, of the Repatriation Department; Commodore Dumaresq, Major Marr, M.C., Capt. Cumberlege.

Everybody is apparently very happy. There is no preliminary, no noise of flag-waving, but it is plain that the little man they're waiting for is the little man they want. As the train's due hour of arrival draws on, the Diggers are seen carrying a chair securely lashed to a couple of poles. And the train comes—dead on time.

The Conquering Hero

All sorts of people crowd forward to welcome Mr. Hughes. There is an idea of dignified greeting and various genteel felicitations. But the Diggers are not out for that sort of thing, and this is their morning. As the band strikes up that old thing about the Conquering Hero, these young things who have conquered without making any fuss about it rush Mr. Hughes. He is looking a trifle pealy and wan, as if the journey has fatigued him, and it is plain that he is nervous. But he is game. He lets himself be seized and carried to that chair. Mr. Rushton, of the R.S.L., says: "I am commissioned by the League to effect an exchange," and seizes Mr. Hughes' hat, immediately substituting a military slouch. The Prime Minister is lifted and borne swaying down the platform to a lorry that waits outside. On the lorry he is perched. There have been des-

Source: The Mirror (Sydney, NSW : 1917 - 1919) Sun 14 Sep 1919, Page 1

Text excerpt, paragraph 1

Mr Hughes has been hailed as the Digger's Friend. Some people may cavil at the title, but the diggers themselves plainly have no doubts about the fitness of it. They regard the Prime Minister as peculiarly their own man. They have absolute faith in him. They believe that he is going to save them and Australia from all the things they hate most. They are confident that their own interests are safe in his hands.

Definitions

Diggers: Australian soldiers

fitness: suitability

cavil: make unnecessary or unimportant objections peculiarly: noticeably, clearly

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

'Reading' a newspaper

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'The Digger's idol', to complete the table. Question 1a has been started for you.

What do you see?	What does it mean?
The image 1a Describe Prime Minster Hughes. Prime Minister Hughes is shown riding a horse. He is wearing a Light Horseman soldier's hat with emu feathers on it. He is carrying a live British Bulldog.	1b Why would Hughes appear like this?
The headlines 2a Circle and then list the adjectives (describing words) in the headlines and the text excerpt.	2b What image or idea about Hughes do the headlines and text excerpt create?
The layout 3a Describe what the headlines look like and how they are arranged with the image.	3b What idea about Hughes does the layout create?
The author and the audience The name of the person who wrote this article is not shown. 4a What might be Hughes' opinion of the writer? 5 Who is likely to be the audience of this article?	4b What can you tell from this source about how Australians felt about their country at this time in history?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

War pensions

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

Source 1

ALLOWANCES

Reg. no.	Group	Number of Cases Assisted	Annual Liability
			£
89C.	Widowed mother of deceased unmarried soldier	418	13,678
89D.	Mother of deceased soldier with an incapacitated husband	12	360
89E.	Incapacitated father of deceased unmarried soldier	3	26
89F.	Divorced, deserted, &c., mother of deceased unmarried soldier	35	668
89G.	Children of deceased soldier where a widow remarries	3	30
89GA.	Widow remarried and again widowed	41	1,463
89H.	Children of deceased soldier who are motherless, deserted, &c.	80	1,330
89I.	Widow and children of soldier who dies within three years of discharge	92	3,109
89K.	Married soldier temporarily totally incapacitated	104	4,255
89L.	Soldier 65 per cent, or more incapacitated	12	284
89N.	Allowance to blinded soldier for attendant	133	6,916
89O.	Dependents of soldier dying after seven years after discharge	469	40,222
89P.	Allowance to soldier suffering loss of one eye	1,553	23,929
89Q.	Allowance to dependents (children) over 16 years of age	37	1,060
89R.	Allowance to third and subsequent children under 16 years of age (beneficiaries)	871	5,663
		3,863	102,993

Source: The Parliament of Australia, Australian Soldier's Repatriation Act, Report of the Repatriation Commission for the year ended 30th June, 1933. Page 5. nla.obj-509277857 National Library of Australia

© Blake Education 2020

Caring for survivors

☞ 1 Use the word bank to complete these paragraphs.

Word bank
- 1939
- Act
- men
- reached
- training

The Australian Soldiers Repatriation Act 1917 made sure that _____ who returned from World War 1 and their families were well cared for. The _____ helped people find jobs and _____, housing, loans and legal aid.

By 1932, the number of war pensions being paid _____ 283,322. Almost 150 million pounds (the equivalent of $12,032,000,000.00 in 2017) was paid to returned soldiers and their families by the time World War 2 started in _____.

2 Use the table of data on the Resource sheet, 'War pensions', to complete the sentences.

Literal questions – the answers are written in the table.

a These war pension numbers are for the time period _____.

b The injury that people most commonly received a pension for was _____.

c The second largest group of people received their pension for

_____

_____

Inferential questions – the answers are not written in the table. Think about the data and what you already know about the topic to help you answer these questions.

d What might stop an injured returned soldier from finding work?

_____

_____

_____

_____

e Why might the parents, children and widows of returned soldiers need a pension?

_____

_____

_____

_____

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Soldier settlements

After World War 1, the government helped around 40,000 returned service people to set up farms in all states of Australia. The scheme was costly and mostly unsuccessful due to reasons such as falling prices for the goods being grown (fruit, wool, wheat) and the new farmers' lack of skills.

A typical settler's house in the Redcliffs i.e. Red Cliffs dried fruit area, 1926, SLV H2011.134/13

☞ What can this photograph tell you about one Victorian settler's life as a farmer? Explain what each feature tells you about how they lived.

Chimneys, woodpile, no electricity lines	Broad, open paddocks	Simple garden
Wooden home with multiple rooms	Dirt paths and roads	Water tanks

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

10 Teacher's notes – Anzac traditions

Achieve!

Objectives

- Explore current and past attitudes to Anzac Day
- Identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources
- Identify and analyse the perspectives of people from the past
- Identify and analyse different historical interpretations

Prior knowledge

Students should have a basic understanding of the origin of Anzac Day and how this day has been celebrated in the past.

Resource and Activity sheets: Keywords and ideas, additional source analysis questions

The first Anzac Day (Resource sheet, p. 60)

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: particularly one, patriotic meetings, commemorate, anniversary, discretion, immediately concerned.

Source analysis questions

Source 1

- What groups of people are watching the parade?
- Describe the flags hanging over the parade. What do they represent?
- Describe the reactions of the people viewing the parade. How is this the same/different to Anzac Day parades around Australia today?

A battle that shaped a nation? (Resource sheet, p. 62)

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: East Timor and Bougainville, legacy, self reliance, initiative, undisputed, iconic, ingenuity.

Source analysis questions

- Who does ex-Prime Minister John Howard refer to when he says, '… in places such as East Timor and Bougainville.'
- How would you describe the 'Australian identity'? What does this term mean?
- What does the term 'mateship' mean? Does it exclude anyone?

Comparing online primary sources (Activity sheet, p. 64)

While this online post is real, the author's details have been altered. Take care with allowing students to read and access online forum posts as they may contain language and attitudes that are unsuitable for a general audience.

Students should understand the meaning of these words as used in the context of the source: slaughter, war mongering, glorifying, illusory, glorification.

The author of this post suggests that Australians have not fought a war on their own land. Some students may raise the idea of the frontier wars fought between white settlers and the Indigenous communities. There are no national memorials to these wars fought all over Australia and the Australian War Memorial continues to not consider that these wars are 'real wars'. Author Henry Reynolds has provided a lot of analysis on this complex subject.

Source analysis questions

- How useful will these primary sources (from online sites) be to people in 2080 who could be studying opinions about Anzac Day in 2020?
- Which words and phrases in the post are used by the writer to help persuade the reader to agree with their point of view?
- Compare this speech in a 1977 play by Alan Seymour (Seymour, A. The One day of the Year, Angus & Robertson, Australia, 1977) with Prime Minister Howard's speech and interview, and the online post. https://auditionscripts.files.wordpress.com/2010/06/hughie-from-one-day.pdf.
  What emotions and ideas are the same and different?

Suggested websites

Suggested website addresses were functional at the time of publication, but teachers should check them for inappropriate content and to ensure that they are still functional before use with students.

https://www.abc.net.au/life/australians-have-a-range-of-emotions-about-anzac-day-and-is-ok/11038550

https://www.awm.gov.au/visit/exhibitions/dawn/spirit

https://www.adelaidenow.com.au/news/national/fury-at-anzac-day-centenary-divisive-fears/news-story/b2ce2e366a349bd817a6119f8d16e7b8

Further reading

Seymour, A. The One day of the Year, Angus & Robertson, Australia, 1977

Reynolds, H. Forgotten War, NewSouth Publishing, Australia, 2014

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

The first Anzac Day

The first Anzac Day was commemorated in Australia and New Zealand in April 1916. The day's events were used by both governments to boost their recruitment numbers.

Source 1

Anzac Day Procession through the Streets of Brisbane, 1916 (9999): Accession Number: D9-2-83. John Oxley Library, State Library of Queensland

Source 2: Anzac Day Gazette notice, 1916

Observances respecting Anzac Day.

Prime Minister's Office

Wellington, 5th April, 1916

5. The Government is of the opinion that the day should not be marked by the holding of sports or similar forms of entertainment. It is considered, however, that the occasion is particularly one upon which opportunity should be taken for all recruiting bodies and others to arrange patriotic meetings for the evening, not only to commemorate the anniversary, but also with a view to assisting the recruiting campaign, the question of how this may best be done being left entirely, to the discretion of those immediately concerned.

W.F MASSEY.
Prime Minister

Source: Anzac Day notice, New Zealand Gazette, 1, 1916, p. 977

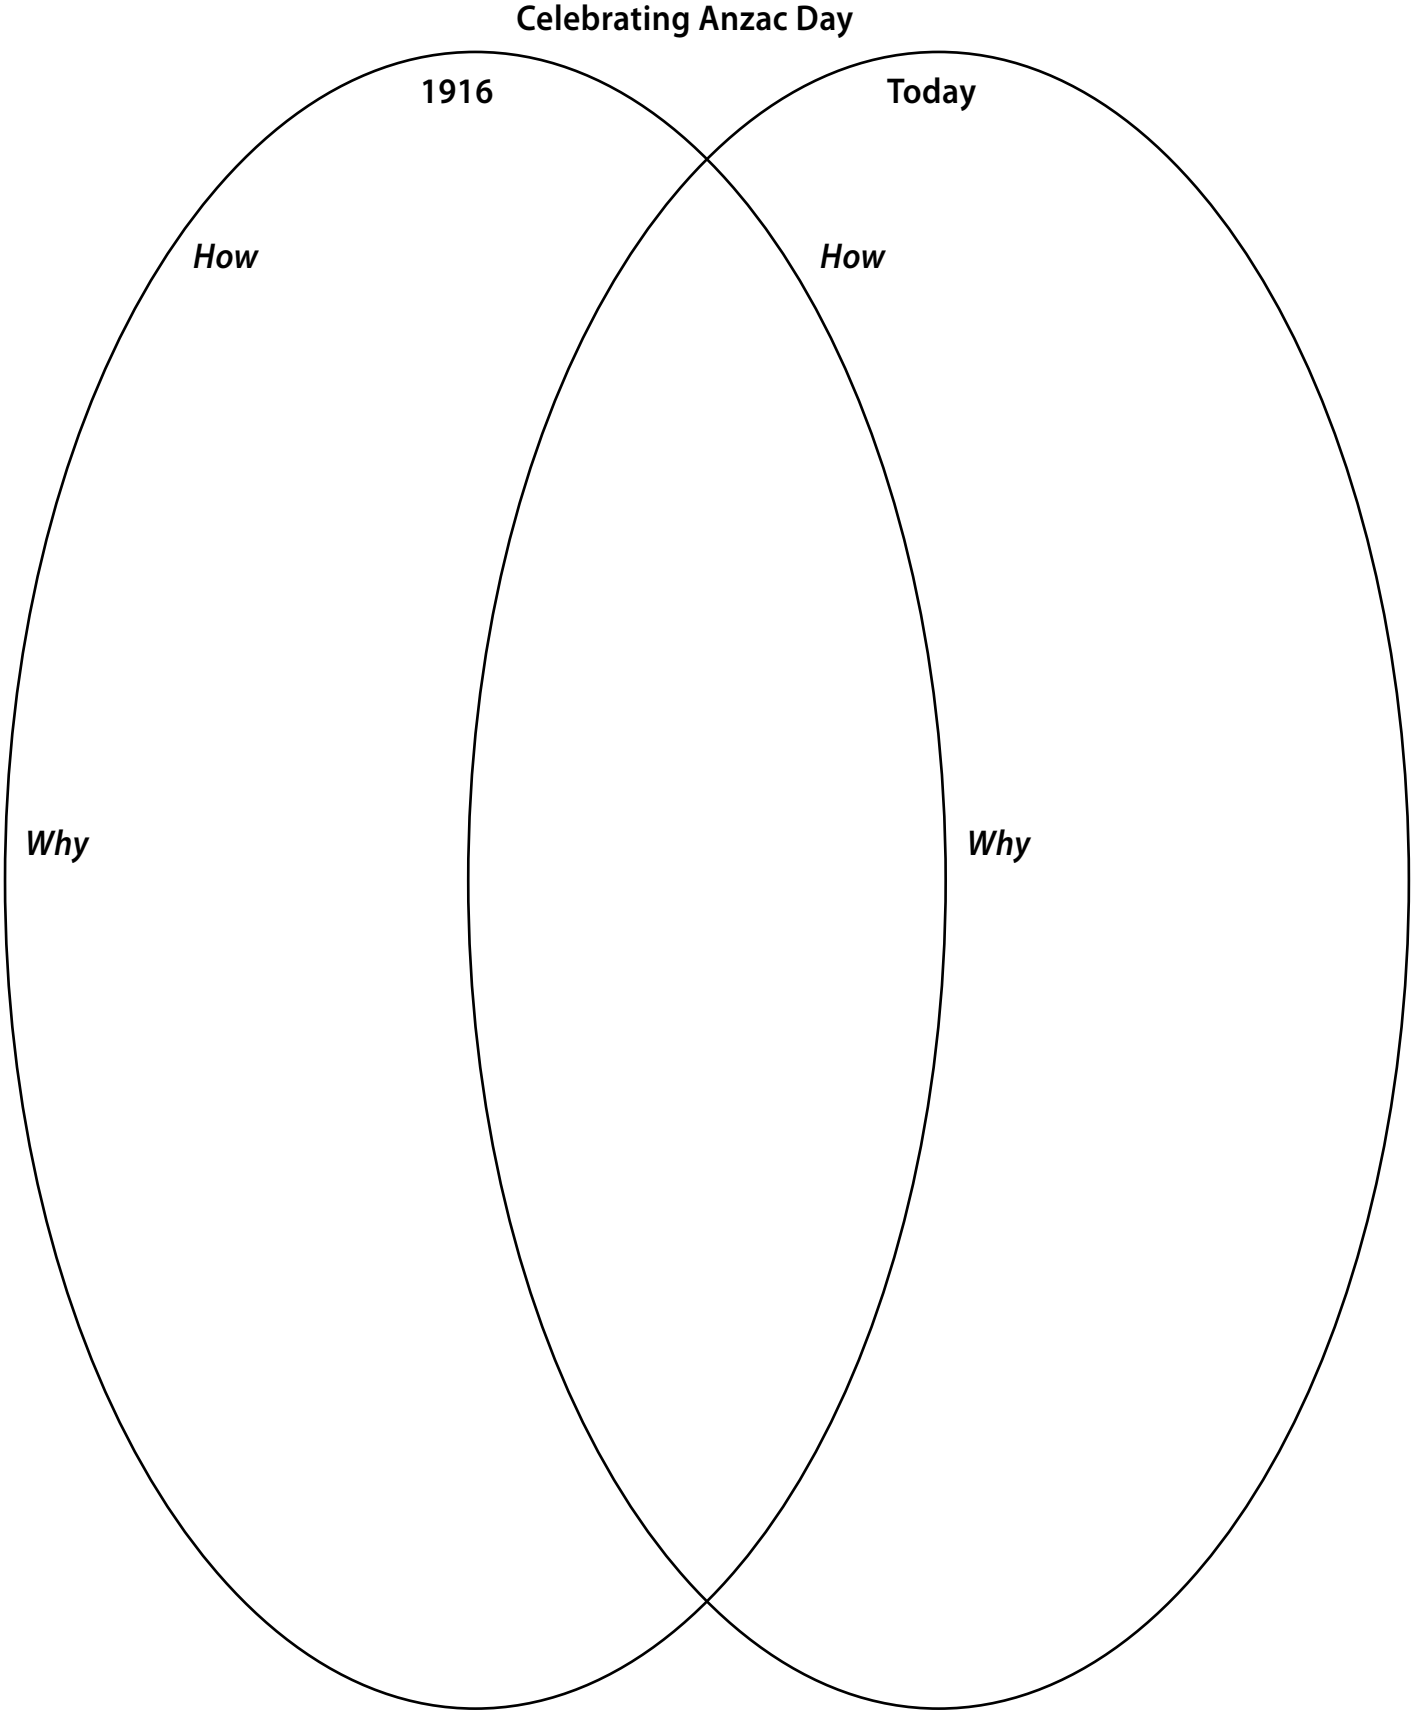
ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Anzac day – then and now

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'The first Anzac Day', to complete the Venn diagram comparing how and why Anzac Day was celebrated in 1916 and today.



ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

A battle that shaped a nation?

Prime Minister John Howard (1996–2007) believed that the battle at Gallipoli was the place where Australia 'became a nation' and that this battle shaped the Australian identity.

Source 1: An excerpt from John Howard's Anzac Day Parade speech given in Canberra, 25 April 2001.

> And also today we think of those still abroad in our name in places such as East Timor and Bougainville.
>
> But as importantly, we gather in ever-increasing numbers to each pledge anew our determination, not merely to dwell upon the legacy of the past, but also to build upon it. To extend a culture of proud self reliance and personal initiative. To create a just society where an individual's rights are respected but their responsibilities are also recognised. To offer our children, and their children, all the possibilities of the world should they only have the heart and the will to grasp them. To build strong communities where men and women strive together for the common good and none need live in fear or isolation.

Source: Licensed from the Commonwealth of Australia under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International Licence. The Commonwealth of Australia does not necessarily endorse the content of this publication. http://pmtranscripts.pmc.gov.au/copyright

Source 2: An excerpt of an ABC interview with John Howard recorded in 2009 where he discusses the impact of the Gallipoli battle on the Australian identity.

> It's the undisputed iconic moment in Australian history. No matter how hard some people may try to say, 'Oh, it shouldn't be like that,' or, 'It wasn't like that,' the fact is, it's got this place in our hearts and our history that will never be removed. People rightly see it as a time and a place and an event, a tragic one, that put some wonderful Australian characteristics on display – mateship, courage ... endurance, resilience, ingenuity.

Source: https://www.abc.net.au/ww1-anzac/gallipoli/commentaries/200021802.html
Posted Fri 6 Mar 2015, 10:29am

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Analysing interviews

☞ Use the Resource sheet, 'A battle that shaped a nation?' and complete this table.

	Primary source 1	Primary source 2
What type of primary source is this?
When was the source created?
Who was the audience of the source?
What is the main message of the source?
What parts of the source are most powerful or interesting to you?
What does the source tell you about John Howard's feelings towards: • Gallipoli? • Anzac Day?

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

© Blake Education 2020

Achieve!

Comparing online primary sources

This online source, 'A stupid war', expresses a current opinion about Anzac Day. Online posts are primary sources as they record people's opinions and ideas.

William Sanders, works at webwebworld.com
Answered Sept 16, 2018

Anzac Day is the celebration of a stupid war that should never have happened. A great number of Australian soldiers went to Turkey, a land that had no influence on the freedom or well being to Australia, and started to fight the Turks. Many good men lost their life, became blind or crippled or insane. Many mothers lost their sons, many wifes lost their husbands. It wasn't even a victory, IT WAS A DEFEAT!

Australians celebrate this man made slaughter. Why?

Because Australians seem to look at it with eyes of a country that never experienced real war on their own soil.

I come from Austria. This country started world war one, and Hitler was an Austrian. Austria has no war mongering public holiday. They experienced war and destruction on their soil and they know that there is nothing glorifying about war fare.

All this war hero thing is such rubbish and I am afraid unless Australia experiences bombs being dropped on their own cities and the suffering of war fare they will still live in this illusory glorification of war.

Australia is just not matured yet. Otherwise it would have public holidays that celebrate peace instead.

112 views

☞ Complete these activities in your workbook.

1 Use question–answer sites like Quora, Yahoo answers or Flurther to find two other sources that express opinions about Anzac Day. Compare the three sources.

2 Use these questions to help you write a report about current primary sources and the opinions and ideas in them about Anzac Day.

- How do the people feel about Anzac Day? What feelings can you read in the comments?
- What life experiences do you think are affecting their points of view?
- Are people listening to each other over the posts? Or shouting at each other?
- How are these primary sources similar to or different from those published before the Internet?

3 In 2080, how useful will these online sources be for understanding past attitudes to Anzac Day? Give reasons for your answer.

ISBN 978-0-6481150-7-6

 © Blake Education 2020